THE SCOPE AND METHODS OF THE PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

The Nature and Format of the Public Accounts

The Nature of the Public Accounts

The Public Accounts of Canada is the annual financial report of the Government of Canada prepared by the Receiver General for Canada as required by Section 55 of the Financial Administration Act. The report covers the financial transactions of the Government during the fiscal year under review even although the Parliamentary authority to undertake these transactions was, in many cases, provided by legislation approved in earlier years. In addition, it includes the accounts of those Crown corporations and other bodies which are maintained separately from the accounts of Canada. The financial year of a number of these corporations is the calendar year rather than the fiscal year of the Government that ends on March 31.

The Format of the Public Accounts

The Public Accounts is produced in three volumes. Volume I contains:

—A brief outline of the principal features of the Government's financial statements and accounting system;

—Statements of the appropriations, expenditures, revenues, assets and liabilities of Canada certified by the Auditor General;

—A summary of the highlights of the Government's financial operations during the fiscal year then ended, including revenue and expenditure on a National Accounts basis;

—A review of budgetary revenue, expenditure and the surplus or deficit for the fiscal year, with comments on the significant aspects of the more important items;

—An analysis of non-budgetary transactions;

—A summary of the financing operations of the Government and their effect on the unmatured debt and the cash position of the Government;

—A statement of the contingent liabilities of Canada.

It also includes:

—The statements required by the Financial Administration Act to be published in the Public Accounts;

—A number of supporting schedules and statements.

Volume II reviews the financial operations of departments in finer detail. For each department, this volume presents:

—Appropriations, expenditures and unexpended balances;

—The total cost of each program;

—An analysis of expenditures by programs;

—An analysis of expenditures by standard objects;

—An analysis of expenditures by activities within a program;

—A statement of the grants, contributions and other transfer payments made;

—A statement of revenues collected;

—A summary of all receipts and outlays and any special accounts maintained.

Volume II also provides a range of additional information, by departments, on items such as:

—Accounts receivable;

—Payments for professional and special services;

—The construction and the acquisition of machinery, equipment, land, buildings, and works.

Volume III includes the financial statements of crown corporations which keep their own accounts, together with the reports of their auditors.

The Government's Accounting System

The practices described in what follows have developed over a number of years and reflect the provisions of the British North America Act and other legislation. They have, however, been under review by an interdepartmental committee preparing a "Study of the Accounts of Canada" and consisting of representatives of the Treasury Board, the Department of Finance and the Receiver General for Canada. The recommendations of this study have been approved by the Standing Committee on Public Accounts. The implementation of these recommendations will alter the practices now in use.

To assist the reader in interpreting the Government's financial statements, a brief outline of the main features of its accounting methods is given in the paragraphs which follow. This outline includes:

—The basic concepts of the Government's accounting system;

—The definition of the Government of Canada as an accounting entity;

—The identification of its financial transactions;

—The allocation of transactions to fiscal years;

—The measurement of transactions;

—The classification of transactions.

Basic Concepts

The two basic concepts of the Government's accounting system in the British North America Act are that all duties and revenues, other than those reserved to the Provinces, "shall form One Consolidated Revenue Fund" and that the balance of the Fund, after certain prior charges, "shall be appropriated by the Parliament of Canada." A third concept contained in the Financial Administration Act further provides that "All estimates of expenditures submitted to Parliament shall be for the services coming in course of payment during the fiscal year" but modifies this requirement by permitting debts incurred during a fiscal year to be paid within the thirty days following the end of that year; any debts so paid may be charged in the accounts of the fiscal year just ended. After the period of thirty days allowed for the payment of debts, no further disbursements can be made from the unexpended balance of any annual appropriation. As a result, there are then no valid annual appropriations under which debts incurred during a fiscal year but still unpaid can be discharged. All disbursements to discharge debts incurred during a fiscal year should therefore be reflected in the accounts of that year. The effects of these constitutional and legal provisions are examined further in the following sections.

The Government of Canada as an Accounting Entity

All the financial transactions of the Government of Canada are reflected in the Public Accounts, irrespective of whether they are undertaken by or on behalf of a department, agency or other body such as a board, commission, council, Crown corporation or fund. There are, however, a number of Crown corporations and other bodies which operate their own banking facilities and keep their own accounts. The financial transactions of these organizations are reflected in the transactions of the Government of Canada only to the extent that they receive money from or pay it to the Government.

As an accounting entity, the Government of Canada is therefore defined as the aggregate of all departments, agencies, boards, commissions, councils, Crown corporations, funds and other bodies, with two exceptions. These exceptions are the "Agency" and "Proprietary" Crown corporations, listed respectively in Schedules C and D of the Financial Administration Act and those Crown corporations that are not subject to the Financial Administration Act. The Crown corporations not subject to the Financial Administration Act include the Bank of Canada, the Canada Council, the Canadian Wheat Board, the Federal Business Development Bank, the International Development Research Centre and the National Arts Centre Corporation.

The Government of Canada as an accounting entity is therefore the total of all its departments and other bodies that pay their receipts into and have their outlays financed from the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada with one important exception.

Although "Agency" and "Proprietary" Crown corporations are normally permitted to make their own banking arrangements, six "Schedule C" corporations—the Canadian Dairy Commission, the Canadian Film Development Corporation, the Canadian Livestock Feed Board, the National Harbours Board, the Royal Canadian Mint and Uranium Canada Limited—are required to use the Consolidated Revenue Fund for banking purposes. These six "Agency" Crown corporations are treated in the same way as other Schedule C and D corporations and are therefore excluded from the definition of the Government of Canada as an accounting entity.

The distinction drawn between the Government of Canada as an accounting entity and those Crown corporations that are regarded as outside that entity reflects the different nature of the transactions of the Government of Canada and those of the Crown corporations in question. Within the Government of Canada, most financial transactions are undertaken for non-commercial purposes. Within the Crown corporations in question, commercial objectives are significant and are reflected in their accounting systems.

The following description of the Government's accounting system therefore refers only to the departments, agencies and other accounting sub-entities that are included in the Government of Canada as an accounting entity.

The Identification of Financial Transactions

Section 106 of the British North America Act provides that all cash receipts are to be paid into the Consolidated Revenue Fund and that all cash payments are to be made from the Fund. The same requirement, together with the provisions in the Financial Administration Act that bring the bank accounts of the Government within the Consolidated Revenue Fund, ensures that the record of cash transactions into and out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund is complete.

The identification of financial transactions therefore begins with the identification of all cash transactions that lead to changes in the balance of the Consolidated Revenue Fund. Cash transactions within the Consolidated Revenue Fund when money is moved between bank accounts are therefore excluded from the Public Accounts. Such movements of money between accounts occur to transfer funds to where they are needed or to honour agreements with the chartered banks about the distribution of deposits of public money.

Apart from cash transactions, a number of internal transactions are identified. These transactions do not lead to any change in the balance of the Consolidated Revenue Fund but are included in the Public Accounts because of legislation or regulations.

The major internal transactions are:

—Interest, Government contributions and deferred charges credited to annuity, insurance and pension accounts;

—Amortization of deferred charges for loan flotation costs;

—Amortization of deferred revenue for premiums on loans;

—Advances to the Unemployment Insurance Account;

—Departmental working capital advances;

—Loans to revolving fund accounts;

—Undisbursed balances of appropriations to Special Accounts carried forward to future years;

—Internal charges and credits to votes from other appropriations, the Unemployment Insurance Account, the Canada Pension Plan Account, special and deposit and trust accounts;

—Internal transfers of interest, profits and surpluses between funds and accounts; —Losses written off and conditional benefits under the Veterans Land Act.

These internal entries defer revenue and expenditure, transfer authorities to disburse money between accounts or to subsequent fiscal years, and adjust the value of assets when losses have occurred.

In addition to the cash and internal transactions that have been described, deferred revenue for income due but not received and two other types of transactions are identified in the Public Accounts of Canada. The initial transactions leading to issues of non-interest-bearing notes payable to the International Monetary Fund and other international organizations together with allocations of Special Drawing Rights received from the International Monetary Fund do not lead to changes in the Consolidated Revenue Fund but influence other assets and liabilities.

Non-interest-bearing notes payable to international organizations are issued as a part of Canada's subscriptions to the capital of such organizations. Such subscriptions are recorded as assets while the non-interest-bearing notes are recorded as liabilities until they are cashed. The initial issue of such notes therefore leads to no receipts of cash but there are subsequent cash payments to international organizations when they present the notes for payment.

Special Drawing Rights are allocated to Canada by the International Monetary Fund. At the time of any such allocation, no payment is made by Canada even although Special Drawing Rights are assets that can be used to make payments to other countries. To identify the transaction, Special Drawing Rights are recorded as additional advances to the Exchange Fund and the equivalent liability for their re-payment to the International Monetary Fund is recorded.

After the initial issues of non-interest-bearing notes or allocations of Special Drawing Rights, subsequent transactions lead to changes in the balance of the Consolidated Revenue Fund and are therefore identified in the same way as any other transactions that change the balance of the Fund.

The Allocation of Transactions to Fiscal Years

The allocation of transactions to accounting periods is usually determined on either a "cash" or an "accrual" basis. When the "cash" basis is used, revenues are taken into the accounts in the period during which they are collected and expenditures are accounted for when cash disbursements are made. When the "accrual" basis is used, revenues are accounted for when earned or due, even if they are not then collected, while expenditures are accounted for when liabilities to pay are incurred irrespective of whether or not payment is made in the same accounting period.

In the Public Accounts, revenues are reported on a cash basis so that accrued tax revenues and other revenues receivable or accrued (including interest accrued) are not normally reported as assets on the Government's statement of assets and liabilities. Both tax and non-tax revenues that have accrued but not been received are clearly not in the Consolidated Revenue Fund; they therefore cannot be used to finance disbursements from appropriations authorized by Parliament. Canada therefore measures its revenues when they are received.

In the case of expenditure, the Financial Administration Act provides that all estimates of expenditure shall be for the services coming in course of payment during the fiscal year but permits payments to discharge debts to be made from annual appropriations for thirty days after the end of the year and reported in the accounts for that year. Thereafter, all annual appropriations lapse. As a result, liabilities under contracts and other accounts payable at March 31, for which cheques are issued during April, are charged as expenditures in the year ended March 31 and appear as current liabilities on the statement of assets and liabilities. Any expenditures not so included are those for which annual appropriations have lapsed. This procedure brings into each year's transactions by far the greater part of the Government's expenditures that, on an accrual basis, would be included as accrued expenditures and carried to the statement of assets and liabilities as accounts payable.

Specific provisions are made to accrue interest on the public debt, and salaries and wages. Charges to budgetary expenditure for interest on unmatured debt, including Treasury Bills, are made each month as the interest accrues rather than annually or semi-annually as the interest becomes payable. Accrued salaries and wages are charged to budgetary expenditures at the end of the fiscal year.

The effect of these procedures is to include in budgetary expenditures for each fiscal year accrued interest on unmatured debt, accrued salaries and wages and a measure of other accrued expenditures based on debts incurred during a fiscal year and paid during the first thirty days after its end. The difference between budgetary expenditure as reported in the Public Accounts and budgetary expenditure on a full accrual basis is therefore the value of debts incurred during a fiscal year and not paid during the following thirty days. As already indicated, no valid annual appropriations then exist to discharge such unpaid debts.

On the other hand, revenue is reported on a cash basis.

These practices are conservative in that budgetary expenditure is included in the accounts for the year as liabilities while accrued revenues are not treated as assets or taken into revenue until collected.

In the case of non-budgetary transactions, receipts from the sale of assets and the incurring of liabilities together with payments for the acquisition of assets and the retirement of liabilities are recorded when they occur. There are, however, a range of non-budgetary transactions that do not lead to any receipts or payments of cash. These non-budgetary transactions have already been described in the section dealing with the "Identification of Financial Transactions".

The Measurement of Transactions

All transactions are measured in terms of Canadian dollars, as required by the Financial Administration Act.

Where a transaction leads to movements of money into or out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund, its value is taken to be that of the cash receipt or disbursement in question. The only significant exception to this practice is in the measurement of receipts from issues of marketable bonds and Treasury Bills. Treasury Bills are issued at a discount; marketable bonds may be issued at par, a discount or a premium. However, issues of marketable bonds and Treasury Bills are recorded at face value. Any discount from face value is recorded in the Unamortized Loan Flotation Costs Account; any premium is credited to deferred revenue. Bonds discounts and premiums are amortized over the period from the date of issue to the earliest call date, if one is specified, or from the date of issue to the date of maturity of the loan. In the case of Treasury Bills, that part of the discount that is applicable to the year of issue is charged to interest on the Public Debt.

Expenditures accrued at the end of a fiscal year do not lead to payments of money out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund during that fiscal year. Accrued expenditures are therefore measured at the amounts that will be payable from the Fund when the related liabilities are liquidated.

Transactions that do not lead to payments into or out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund are measured in a number of ways. For the purposes of measurement, such transactions can be considered in three groups.

The first group consists of transactions arising from the deferring of expenditure or revenue. This group includes charges for actuarial deficiencies in superannuation accounts, deferred charges for loan flotation costs and deferred revenue for loan premiums and interest earned but not received.

In the case of the superannuation accounts for the Canadian Forces, Public Service and Royal Canadian Mounted Police, any actuarial deficiencies are valued every fifth year and the superannuation account in question is then credited with the total amount of the deficiency. At the same time the total amount is also debited to the account for deferred charges for superannuation accounts. The deferred charge is amortized by annual charges to budgetary expenditures or revolving funds over a period of five years, starting in the year in which it is first set up. Similar adjustments are also made when there are salary increases.

The transactions to amortize deferred loan flotation costs are calculations of the amounts required to amortize such costs either over the life of a loan or over the time from its date of issue to its earliest call date.

Deferred revenue for loan premiums is first measured at the amounts received; these amounts are then credited to interest on the public debt over the life of the loans in question. Deferred revenue for interest earned but not received is measured at the amount of the interest in question.

The measurement of transactions arising from the deferring of expenditure is therefore based on their original recorded values and the convention adopted to record such transactions in the accounts over a period of time. In the case of deferred revenue for interest, the convention is designed to ensure that certain debts due but not paid are still recorded as owing.

The second group consists of transactions that arise from transfers between accounts or to subsequent fiscal years.

They are measured as follows:

—Loans to the Unemployment Insurance Account, departmental working capital advance accounts and revolving fund accounts represent amounts drawn against authorities to disburse money made available to these accounts;

—Additions to the undisbursed balances of appropriations to Special Accounts are the amounts of authorities to disburse money that have not yet been exercised and that are carried forward to future years;

—Credits to votes where the amounts in question are paid from one department or agency to another are measured at the amount that the paying department or agency has agreed to transfer to the recipient;

—Internal transfers of interest are measured in the normal way on the basis of the principal outstanding and the agreed rate of interest;

—Revolving fund surpluses are the excess of revenues over expenses.

The last group of transactions consists of losses written-off. These transactions are measured at the determined amount of the loss; they are, in effect, adjustments of the value of assets.

Classification of Transactions

For the reader's convenience, this section has been subdivided as follows:

—Classification of items as budgetary and non-budgetary;

—Budgetary revenue;

—Budgetary expenditure;

—Liabilities;

—Assets;

—Net debt.

The Classification of Transactions as Budgetary and Non-Budgetary

The financial transactions of the Government of Canada are classified into two basic groups, budgetary and non-budgetary.

In general terms, "budgetary" transactions occur when current revenues are raised or current expenditures are made; "non-budgetary" transactions lead to the acquisition or disposal of a financial asset or to the creation or discharge of a financial liability. These classifications are, however, subject to a number of exceptions and may also be altered at the discretion of the Minister of Finance or by legislation.

The Minister of Finance is given a discretionary power in Section 55(2)(c) of the Financial Administration Act to determine "such of the assets and direct and contingent liabilities of Canada as, in the opinion of the Minister, are required to give a true and fair view of the financial position of Canada as at the termination of the fiscal year". He therefore has the power to change the classification of any transactions from budgetary to non-budgetary, or vice versa.

Most changes in the classification of transactions as budgetary or non-budgetary are, however, made by legislation establishing a new fund or account. Any fund or advance account within the Consolidated Revenue Fund is classified as non-budgetary so that, whenever a new fund or advance account is created, transactions that would otherwise be treated as budgetary are classified as non-budgetary. These changes in classification apply to both revenue and expenditure.

For example, if a new advance account or revolving fund is allocated certain fees, the classification of these fees will change from budgetary revenue to non-budgetary receipts. Similarly, when an advance account or revolving fund is created, any capital expenditures it makes are re-classified from budgetary expenditures to non-budgetary payments.

The effect of these practices is that budgetary revenue is revenue that is not allocated to a specific purpose while budgetary expenditure consists of expenditure that is financed from budgetary revenue, and such other sources as may be used to finance any shortfall of budgetary revenue. Since revenue that was freely disposable can be allocated to a special purpose, and vice versa, the classification of transactions as budgetary or non-budgetary may not be the same from one fiscal year to another. Budgetary transactions can be reclassified as non-budgetary, and conversely, whenever a new advance or fund account is created or discontinued.

For the purpose of accounting and reporting, the Public Accounts uses the definition of budgetary and non-budgetary transactions in force at the end of the fiscal year to which the report refers and presents comparative figures for the previous fiscal year based on the same definition. This procedure has been adopted to provide as accurate comparisons as possible between the current and previous fiscal years in any given edition of the Public Accounts.

Budgetary Revenue

Budgetary revenue consists of all revenue that has not been allocated to a special purpose. It includes all tax revenues from income tax, the oil export charge or tax, excise taxes and duties, customs import duties and estate tax subject to the exceptions noted in the following paragraph. In addition, budgetary revenue includes the returns received on investments, postal revenue net of both disbursements and revenues credited to the votes of the Post Office, and certain other non-tax revenues. The main items included in other non-tax revenues are receipts from fees, sales, privileges, licences, permits and bullion and coinage transactions and refunds of previous years' expenditures. Budgetary revenue also includes other internal transactions that do not lead to changes in the balance of the Consolidated Revenue Fund as disclosed under the Identification of Financial Transactions.

Budgetary revenue is stated net of refunds paid and excludes:

1. taxes collected by the Government of Canada but paid to participating provinces in accordance with Federal-Provincial Agreements;
2. receipts from the Air Transportation Tax credited to both the Airports Revolving Fund and budgetary expenditures of the Ministry of Transport;
3. contributions to the Canada Pension Plan and Unemployment Insurance;
4. receipts and revenues credited to votes;
5. receipts and revenues credited to Special Accounts;
6. receipts and revenues credited to revolving funds.

Budgetary Expenditure

Budgetary expenditure consists of expenditure that is financed from budgetary revenue and such other sources as may be used to finance any shortfall of budgetary revenue. It includes all sums paid during the year, payments made within the thirty days following the end of the fiscal year, and certain other sums accrued on account of debts incurred during a fiscal year for operating expenditures, capital expenditures, grants and contributions. Budgetary expenditure also includes certain internal transactions that do not lead to changes in the balance of the Consolidated Revenue Fund. These transactions include:

1. all charges for interest and Government contributions that are credited to superannuation accounts and other annuity, insurance and pension accounts;
2. the Government's contribution to the Unemployment Insurance Account that permits the recovery of advances made in prior years to this account, all charges for interest credited thereto and the Government contribution as an employer;
3. the Government's contribution as an employer to the Canada Pension Plan Account and all charges for interest credited thereto and to Government annuity account;
4. undisbursed balances of appropriations to Special Accounts and certain other accounts;
5. write-off of losses and conditional benefits credited to the Veteran Land Act Reserve Account;
6. charges to amortize actuarial adjustments and loan flotation costs including treasury bill and bond discounts recorded as deferred charges and charges for treasury bill discount which are credited to unmatured debt during the course of the fiscal year;
7. credits to votes from other appropriations, revolving funds, the Unemployment Insurance Account, the Canada Pension Plan Account, special, and deposit and trust accounts.

Budgetary expenditure does not include pensions paid under the Canada Pension Plan, Unemployment Insurance payments other than benefits to fishermen, any payments financed from receipts credited directly to Special Accounts or expenditures charged to working capital advance accounts and revolving funds.

Liabilities

The liabilities of the Government of Canada consist of:

1. financial obligations to be paid in future to organizations and individuals outside the Government, including its employees, as a result of events and transactions prior to the accounting date; and
2. credit balances for deferred revenue and undisbursed balances of appropriations to Special Accounts.

The first group, financial obligations to organizations and individuals outside the Government, includes accrued interest, accrued salaries and wages, accounts payable and the liabilities of superannuation accounts. Accounts payable are those liabilities under contracts and other accounts payable that are outstanding at March 31 but that are paid within thirty days thereafter in accordance with provisions of the Financial Administration Act. The liabilities of superannuation accounts are periodically re-valued on an actuarial basis except that the calculations of the obligation arising under the indexation scheme are not included in the re-valuation.

The second group, credit balances for deferred revenue and the undisbursed balances of appropriations to Special Accounts, does not represent obligations to other organizations and individuals. These credit balances are recorded because the accounts in question are classified as non-budgetary.

The liabilities exclude certain amounts payable for goods and services received in the fiscal year but which were not paid within 30 days thereof, and amounts accruing for such items as benefits payable upon termination of employment.

The classes of liabilities shown in the statement of liabilities include:

1. current liabilities, including matured debt outstanding, outstanding cheques and warrants, interest due and outstanding, interest accrued, accrued salaries and wages, accounts payable, non-interest-bearing notes payable to international organizations and other obligations payable on demand;

2. obligations payable to the International Monetary Fund;
3. sundry funds deposited with the Receiver General for Canada or held in trust for various purposes;
4. social security funds;
5. amounts to the credit of other annuity, insurance and pension accounts;
6. undisbursed balances of appropriations to special accounts, which, in accordance with the legislation under which they are authorized, are available for expenditure in periods subsequent to the fiscal year in which they are granted;
7. provision for compound and bonus interest on Canada savings bonds;
8. amounts due to the Government but in respect of which payment has been deferred; these are contra accounts to corresponding items under "Loans to, and investments in, Crown Corporations", "Loans to national governments" and "Other loans and investments";
9. suspense accounts consisting of balances where some uncertainty as to disposition exists; and
10. unmatured debt, consisting of bonds and treasury bills.

Assets

The recorded assets of the Government consist of:

1. the realizable or income earning financial claims that it has acquired on other organizations and individuals as a result of events and transactions prior to the accounting date;
2. other financial claims on third parties that yield no income and may not be realizable but for which no authority to write them off has been obtained from Parliament;
3. the debit balances in the Unemployment Insurance Account and in the accounts for deferred charges, working capital advances and revolving funds.

In recording assets, the policy is to exclude two categories of assets.

The first category consists of accruals of revenue, including taxes and revenues receivable. The exclusion of this category follows from the practice of reporting revenue when it is received.

The second category consists of inventories of materials, supplies and equipment together with public works and buildings, national monuments, military assets (such as aircraft, naval vessels, guns and tanks) and other fixed assets which are collectively recorded at a nominal value of $1. Inventories and other physical assets were originally excluded on the basis of the principle that they were neither revenue producing nor realizable assets that could be offset against gross liabilities in determining net debt.

Once, however, this principle was applied, the statement of assets became a statement of the Government's holding of financial claims, other than the receivables excluded because revenues and other receipts are reported on a cash basis. The present policy is therefore to report assets on this basis, together with the debit balances of certain accounts that will next be examined.

Debit balances in the Unemployment Insurance Account and in the accounts for deferred charges, working capital advances and revolving funds are, with one possible exception, not claims on individuals and organizations outside the Government.

Any debit balance in the Unemployment Insurance Account at the end of a fiscal year is recoverable from higher premiums in subsequent years and, where unemployment exceeds a stated percentage, a contribution made by the Government and paid at the start of the next fiscal year. The sums recoverable from future increases in premiums could be regarded as claims on contributors to Unemployment Insurance.

The debit balances for deferred charges appear because of the policy of deferring certain charges. The debit balances in working capital advance and revolving fund accounts occur because of the policy of making advances to these accounts instead of financing them by budgetary appropriations; the effect of this policy is that the financing of certain inventories and fixed assets is reflected in assets.

Assets are valued at cost or at written down values, except for fixed assets which are shown at a nominal value of $1. Valuation at written down values is applied only after the necessary authority has been obtained from Parliament.

Special Drawing Rights issued by the International Monetary Fund have been recorded in the accounts in accordance with the Fund's recommendations to participants.

Balances in bank accounts operated in foreign currencies are converted to Canadian currency at the year end on the basis of market rates.

The classes of assets shown in the statement of assets include:

1. current assets, including cash, and securities held for the securities investment account;
2. departmental working capital advances;
3. foreign exchange reserve accounts, including advances to the exchange fund account for the acquisition of gold, securities and foreign exchange and Canada's subscription to the capital of the International Monetary Fund;
4. social security accounts which include the Canada Pension Plan Investment Fund and advances to the Unemployment Insurance Account;
5. investments held for retirement of unmatured debt;
6. loans to, and investments in, crown corporations;
7. other loans and investments, including loans to provincial and municipal governments, advances to the Municipal Development and Loan Board and a number of miscellaneous advances to veterans and others;
8. loans to national governments and international organizations;
9. securities held in trust for various deposit and trust and annuity, insurance and pension accounts, and bonds, shares, certificates and certified cheques held in connection with contractors' security deposits;
10. deferred charges which consist of the unamortized portions of the actuarial deficiencies in the superannuation accounts, representing that portion of the Government's liability in respect of these accounts that has not been charged to budgetary expenditures, and discounts, commissions, redemption bonuses and conversion premiums on loan flotations, remaining to be charged to expenditure;

11. fixed assets, a category set up to cover fixed assets that are charged to budgetary expenditure at the time of acquisition or construction and which are shown on the statement of assets and liabilities at a nominal value of $1; and
12. inactive loans which are not currently yielding interest, profits or dividends.

The allowance for losses on the realization of assets is not shown as a liability but is deducted from the total of the assets.

Net Debt

The excess of gross liabilities over the net recorded assets is designated as the net debt. Net debt was originally the excess of gross liabilities over "active" assets, that is, assets that were realizable or produced income; it is now, in effect, the overall deficit recorded since Confederation.

Additional explanations are given in the notes to the statements that follow.

Note—

The basis of classification of transactions used for the "Consolidated Statement of Financial Operations of the Government of Canada" which is shown in Section 4 is different from the basis described in this Section.

Auditor General's Certificate

The above Statement has been examined in accordance with the provisions of the Financial Administration Act. I have obtained all the information and explanations I have required and, subject to the comments in my report to the House of Commons, I certify that the Statement is in agreement with the accounts maintained by the Receiver General for Canada and that, in my opinion, it exhibits a correct view of the financial position of Canada as at March 31, 1976 in accordance with the accounting policies referred to in Note 1 to the Financial statements of the Government of Canada.

September 15, 1976

J. J. MACDONELL,
Auditor General of Canada.

Notes to the Financial Statements of the Government of Canada

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND PRACTICES

i. Basic Concepts

The two basic concepts of the Government's accounting system in the British North America Act are that all duties and revenues, other than those reserved to the Provinces, "shall form One Consolidated Revenue Fund" and that the balance of the Fund, after certain prior charges, "shall be appropriated by the Parliament of Canada". A third concept contained in the Financial Administration Act further provides that "All estimates of expenditures submitted to Parliament shall be for the services coming in course of payment during the fiscal year" but modifies this requirement by permitting debts incurred during a fiscal year to be paid within the thirty days following the end of that year.

ii. The Government of Canada as an accounting entity

The Government of Canada for purposes of these statements is defined as the aggregate of all departments, agencies, boards, commissions, councils, Crown corporations, funds and other bodies, but excluding the "agency" and "proprietary" corporations listed in schedules C and D of the Financial Administration Act, and those Crown corporations that are not subject to the Financial Administration Act.

iii. The identification of financial transactions

Section 106 of the British North America Act provides that all cash receipts are to be paid into the Consolidated Revenue Fund and that all cash payments are to be made from the Fund. The identification of financial transactions therefore begins with the identification of all cash transactions that lead to changes in the balance of the Consolidated Revenue Fund. Apart from cash transactions, a number of major internal transactions are also identified. These transactions do not lead to any change in the balance of the Consolidated Revenue Fund but are included in the Public Accounts because of legislation or regulations.

iv. Reporting of budgetary revenue

Revenue from parties outside the Consolidated Revenue Fund is recorded when received and is not adjusted for accruals. Revenue is reported gross except where Parliament permits netting of revenue against expenditures.

v. Reporting of budgetary expenditures

Expenditure includes all sums paid during the year, and payments made within thirty days following the end of the fiscal year on the account of debts incurred for operating expenditures, capital expenditures, grants and contributions.

Budgetary expenditures also include accruals of interest on the public debt, and accruals of salaries and wages earned but not paid at the fiscal year end.

Expenditures include internal transactions that do not lead to any change in the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

These transactions include interest and government contributions to pension accounts and to the Unemployment Insurance account, amortization of deferred charges, write-off of losses, undisbursed balances of appropriations to special accounts and credits to votes from other appropriations, revolving funds and other non-budgetary accounts.

vi. Reporting of assets

The recorded assets of the Government consist of:

- the realizable or income earning financial claims that it has acquired on other organizations and individuals as a result of events and transactions prior to the accounting date;
- other financial claims on third parties that yield no income and may not be realizable but for which no authority to write them off has been obtained from Parliament; and
- the debit balances in the Unemployment Insurance account and in the accounts for deferred charges, working capital advances and revolving funds.

The unamortized portion of actuarial deficiencies on the superannuation accounts and unamortized loan flotation costs are recorded as deferred charges, but no other deferred charges are recorded.

Financial claims on others, are carried at amounts advanced less amounts written off in accordance with parliamentary authority and have not been subject to any revaluation to reflect collectable or recoverable values.

Short-term assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are carried at current exchange rates but those which are of a long-term nature are recorded at historical values as described later in the notes.

Assets not reported on the Statement of Assets and Liabilities include the following:

- Accruals of revenue
- Inventories and fixed assets, the latter being carried at nominal value.

The allowance for losses on realization of assets was previously charged to budgetary expenditure and is not shown as a liability but is deducted from the total of the assets. This allowance was created prior to 1957 by charges to budgetary expenditure, has remained unchanged since that date and does not constitute a reserve related to specific revaluation of assets.

vii. Reporting of liabilities

The liabilities of the Government of Canada consist of:

- financial obligations to be paid in future to organizations and individuals outside the Government, including its employees, as a result of events and transactions prior to the accounting date; and
- credit balances for deferred revenue and undisbursed balances of appropriations to Special Accounts.

The liabilities exclude certain accounts payable for goods and services received in the fiscal year but which were not paid within 30 days thereof, and amounts accruing for such items as benefits payable upon termination of employment.

The government's obligations for superannuate pensions and annuities are valued on an actuarial basis, except the obligation arising under the indexation scheme. Under this scheme, the excess of the indexed benefits paid over contributions made in respect of any superannuate is charged to statutory appropriations.

2. RECEIPTS AND REVENUE NOT INCLUDED IN REVENUE ACCOUNTS

Revenue does not include amounts credited to other accounts as follows:

iii. OTHER SPECIAL ACCOUNTS AND REVOLVING FUNDS

Applicable receipts and revenue were credited directly thereto.

3. REFUND OF PREVIOUS YEAR'S EXPENDITURES—MINISTRY OF STATE FOR URBAN AFFAIRS

The Summary of Revenue by Main Classification and Department includes an amount of $76.5 million in respect of Urban Affairs identified as "refunds of previous years' expenditures". This item is related to the costs reimbursed to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation under certain provisions of the National Housing Act from January 1, 1975, to March 31, 1975. Reimbursed to the Corporation in the year ended March 31, 1975, these costs were charged to appropriations provided by statutory authority in that year. However, in the year ended March 31, 1976, in order to conform with the technical details of the appropriation acts these same costs were charged to the annual appropriation providing specifically for such reimbursements and a corresponding revenue was recorded under the caption referred to above. The practice which has been followed for a number of years in fact results in an overstatement of revenues of $76.5 million in the current year ($57.0 million in 1974-75). The Ministry's expenditures are also overstated by a similar amount.

4. CHANGES IN OLD AGE SECURITY LEGISLATION

The amendments to the Old Age Security Act which came into effect at the end of June, 1975, abolished the Old Age Security Fund and made benefits paid under the Act budgetary charges. Since then, transfers of personal and corporation income taxes and sales taxes previously made to the Fund have been discontinued. An appropriation later in the year authorized the write-off to budgetary expenditure of advances to the Fund outstanding at the end of June, 1975. The effect of these changes was to make Old Age Security benefits budgetary charges payable out of general revenue and to discontinue the transfers of tax revenue to the Old Age Security Fund with effect from the end of June, 1975.

In the statement of Expenditure and Revenue which appears on page 2.4, both the expenditure and revenue of 1976 have been increased by $796.4 million. The effect of these adjustments is to report Old Age Security transactions as if the change described above had come into effect on April 1, 1975.

No change in budgetary deficit results from these adjustments to expenditure and revenue. No other statement in the 1976 Public Accounts carries these adjustments of revenue and expenditure.

For comparative purposes corresponding adjustments of $3,158.5 million have been made to the expenditure and revenue of 1975. These adjustments are for the full year because the Old Age Security Fund operated for the whole of the 1975 fiscal year, whereas the adjustment required in 1976 was only for the three months of that year when the Fund was in operation.

The adjustments referred to above for taxes credited to the Old Age Security Fund, are detailed in the following table:

Personal income tax	507,000,000	1,642,000,000
Corporation income tax	139,800,000	550,500,000
Sales tax	149,630,663	966,023,429
	796,430,663	3,158,523,429

5. SPECIAL EXCISE TAX ON GASOLINE

An amendment to the Excise Tax Act, effective June 25, 1975 provides for a special excise tax on gasoline of 10c per gallon. Under certain conditions the amounts received may be refunded to purchasers. During 1975-76 $56.0 million had been refunded and charged to revenue.

6. RETROACTIVE SALARY AND WAGE PAYMENTS

A number of Collective Bargaining Agreements have been signed either prior to March 31st or by June 28, 1976 that call for retroactive payments and which have been or will be actioned in the 1976-77 fiscal year. The estimate of the retroactive payments to be made according to these contract settlements which pertain to the 1975-76 fiscal year is $48.4 million.

7. TRANSFER OF DUTIES, RESPONSIBILITIES AND LEGISLATIVE CHANGES

Where transfer of duties, responsibilities or legislative changes take place in a fiscal year, the amounts for the previous fiscal year when material are adjusted for comparative purposes.

i. Contribution to Employee Benefits Plans—For 1975-76 the statutory payments for the government's contribution to the Canada and Quebec Pension Plans and the Death Benefit account, previously included in the accounts of Treasury Board, have been added to the programs of each department and agency for whom the Treasury Board acts as employer. The amounts for 1974-75, which were $36.2 million, have been reallocated to departmental accounts for comparative purposes.

ii. During 1975-76, responsibilities for the National Research Council were transferred from the Treasury Board Secretariat to the Ministry of State for Science and Technology.

8. NET DEBT

The increase in net debt in 1975-76 reflects a budgetary deficit of $4,021.9 million, compared to $1,146.1 million for 1974-75.

9. UNAMORTIZED PORTION OF ACTUARIAL DEFICIENCIES

These accounts record the unamortized portions of the actuarial deficiencies in the Canadian Forces superannuation account, the Public Service superannuation account and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account which have been set up as deferred charges. Actuarial valuations are made quinquennially, the next of which will be made effective December 31, 1975 for the Canadian Forces superannuation account, December 31, 1977 for the Public Service superannuation account and December 31, 1974 for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account. Any actuarial deficiency revealed at that time will be credited to the account and charged to unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies and amortized to budgetary expenditure in five equal annual instalments commencing in the fiscal year in which the report is laid before Parliament. Also, the cost for benefits payable under the superannuation acts as a result of the authorization of salary increases are to be credited to the superannuation accounts and charged to unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies and amortized to budgetary expenditure over a period of five years commencing in the year in which the increase is authorized.

10. ASSETS AND LIABILITIES IN FOREIGN CURRENCIES

Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies other than those of a short-term nature are recorded at historical values. The value of these assets and liabilities based on exchange rates in effect at March 31, 1976 ($1 U.S. = $.9844 Canadian) are summarized in the following statement.

Notes to the Financial Statements of the Government of Canada—Concluded

11. SPECIAL DRAWING RIGHTS

The liability for the allocation of Special Drawing Rights issued by the International Monetary Fund has been recorded in the accounts of Canada in accordance with the Fund's accounting recommendations to participants. Although the liability arises from transactions associated with foreign exchange reserves, it is not taken into account in determining Canada's official international reserves.

12. CANADA PENSION PLAN

The accounts in respect of the Canada Pension Plan which are recorded on the Government's Statement of Assets and Liabilities are summarized in the following statement.

	1976	1975
	$ (millions)	$
ASSETS
Canada Pension Plan Investment Fund—
Securities of, or garanteed by—

The liability amounts shown above do not purport to reflect any obligation of the Government of Canada to discharge the unfunded actuarial liability of the Plan. Details on the Canada Pension Plan Account can be found in Section 15 of Volume II.

13. UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACCOUNT

The accounts in respect of the Unemployment Insurance Account which are recorded on the Government's Statement of Assets and Liabilities are summarized in the following statement.

	1976	1975	Increase or decrease (−)
	$ (thousands)	$	$
ASSETS
Advances	2,158,291	1,656,748	501,543

Outstanding warrants	108,261	96,309	11,952

14. RECOVERY LIKELY TO REQUIRE PARLIAMENTARY APPROPRIATIONS

Recovery of the following loans is likely to require parliamentary appropriation in subsequent fiscal years:

	1976	1975
	$ (millions)	$
Unemployment Insurance Account	[1]2,088.3	1,271.7
Canadian Broadcasting Corporation	197.9	197.9
National Capital Commission	38.4	39.6
Northwest Territories	105.1	105.1
Yukon Territory	42.9	42.9

[1] Includes $1,683.3 million charged to budgetary expenditure of 1976-77, on April 21, 1976.

15. MATURITY OF GOVERNMENT DEBT

i. Maturing within the next fiscal year.

That portion of unmatured debt maturing in 1976-77 is in the order of $9,096.9 million including $6,495.0 million of treasury bills, $2,552.3 million of marketable bonds and $49.6 million of Canada Savings Bonds.

ii. Maturing within the next five fiscal years.

The following amounts represent that portion of unmatured debt maturing before the year end on March 31:

	Treasury Bills	Marketable Bonds	Canada Savings Bonds	Total
	$ (in millions of dollars)	$	$	$
1977	6,495.0	2,552.3	49.6	9,096.9
1978		2,582.9	28.4	2,611.3
1979		1,725.0	2,789.8	4,514.8
1980		2,103.3	152.1	2,255.4
1981		1,897.8	1,002.0	2,899.8
	6,495.0	10,861.3	4,021.9	21,378.2

It should be noted however that all Canada Savings Bonds are redeemable on demand regardless of maturity date. The total amount of $15,517.4 million of Canada Savings Bonds shown on the Statement of Assets and Liabilities, including $4,021.9 million maturing within the next five fiscal years, is therefore redeemable at any time.

Details of unmatured debt disclosing the above information may be found in Section 10 of this volume.

16. CONTINGENT LIABILITIES

The contingent liabilities of Canada consist of the following:

	1976	1975
	$ (millions)	$
Railway securities guaranteed as to principal and interest	582.9	596.2
Other outstanding amounts	16,541.3	15,034.5
	17,124.2	15,630.7

Details of these contingent liabilities, together with certain indeterminate guarantees, are listed in Section 10.

Explanations regarding the general nature of the items in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities

ASSETS

1. (a) Cash represents balances of current and special deposits at credit of the Receiver General for Canada in banks in Canada, London, New York, Paris, Bonn, Brussels, Rome and Frankfurt and cash in hands of collectors and in transit. Cash in hands of collectors and in transit represents moneys received by public officers on or before March 31 but not deposited to the credit of the Receiver General for Canada until after that date. Indian agencies revenue trust bank accounts record moneys held in trust for Indians in authorized banks in Canada, and temporary deposits in Customs and Excise bank accounts record moneys held as a security for the temporary entry of goods or to otherwise ensure compliance with various departmental regulations.

1. (b) This shows the temporary holdings by the Government of Canada at amortized cost of its own securities (including Canada savings bonds at par for resale to subscribers under the government employees instalment purchase plan).

1. (c) This category includes moneys received after March 31, but applicable to the current year, Post Office moneys in hands of collectors and in transit at March 31. Accounts receivable, with the exception of those held as charges against departmental working capital advances, are not included in this statement. Summaries of accounts receivable furnished by departments are shown in a section of Volume II.

2. Departmental working capital advances constitute the advances outstanding at the close of the relative fiscal years for working funds of certain government departments.

3. (a) This is the valuation of advances to finance the purchase of gold, foreign exchange and securities. The balance of advances at March 31, 1976 also includes the Canadian dollar equivalent of 358,620,000 units of Special Drawing Rights issued to Canada by the International Monetary Fund. This total does not include the earnings of the Exchange Fund Account for the period January 1, 1976 to March 31, 1976 which amounted to $73,011,867.

3. (b) This account records Canada's quota in the International Monetary Fund.

In this organization members' quotas are now expressed in Special Drawing Rights and are normally paid in gold (25%) and the remainder (75%) in the member's currency. If the fund does not require a currency, this portion of a member's quota may be paid in the form of non-interest-bearing notes payable on demand, except for a cash working balance of at least one per cent. Whenever this working balance contains more than $1 million in excess of this minimum requirement, the fund remits cash to the member and demand notes are substituted in round lots of $1 million; conversely should the working balance fall below minimum requirements the reverse action takes place. These notes are carried as a liability of the Government of Canada under the heading "foreign exchange reserve accounts".

Until 1972 quotas were expressed in U.S. dollars. When Canada joined the fund in 1946-47 its quota was set at U.S. $300 million. This was raised to U.S. $550 million in October 1959, in May 1966 to U.S. $740 million and in December 1970 to U.S. $1,100 million or 1,100 million SDR's at the then prevailing rate of U.S. $1 = 1 SDR.

4. The Canada Pension Plan Act, 1965 directed that this account be established to record the purchase and the sale of securities of the Government of Canada, of a participating province, or of any agent of Her Majesty in right of that province that is guaranteed as to principal and interest by the province. The amount by which the operating balance of the Canada Pension Plan account in any month exceeds the estimated amount required to meet all payments in the following three-month period is available for the purchase of securities of participating provinces. Securities of Canada shall be purchased with the excess remaining after purchasing securities of each province as required.

Also included are those assets accounts in respect of the Unemployment Insurance Account.

The first of these, comprising the large majority of the accounts, consists of those cases where the government acts virtually as trustee, administering the funds for the purpose for which they were created. The other class is the deposit accounts which cover mainly those cases where the government has received the moneys as a guarantee that work will be properly performed.

The first of these, comprising the majority of accounts, consists of those cases where Parliament has appropriated moneys for specific purposes. AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA AUDITEUR GÉNÉRAL DU CANADA

Because the following observations, which have been prepared for inclusion in my Report to the House of Commons, deal specifically with the presentation of the Financial Statements of the Government of Canada as included in the Public Accounts, I have asked that they be reproduced here for the convenience of the users of the Public Accounts. In addition to these observations, my Report to the House will contain other comments on the results of the audit of the accounts of the government for the year ended March 31, 1976. Adoption of this practice represents an initial step toward implementing recommendations of the Independent Review Committee (the Wilson Committee) concerning the responsibilities of the Auditor General in relation to the Government's financial statements.

OBSERVATIONS BY THE AUDITOR GENERAL ON THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS OF THE GOVERNMENT OF CANADA

Introduction

This section contains my observations on certain practices on which the presentation of the Financial Statements of the Government of Canada for the year ended March 31, 1976 is based. The matters giving rise to these observations have been commented on in my previous Reports to the House of Commons. These matters, while being in accordance with existing legislation and stated accounting policies and consistent with prior years, result in serious problems in the accounting presentation of the financial position and financial operations of the Government of Canada. The fundamental issues giving rise to these problems were the subject of review by the "Study of the Accounts of Canada" initiated by the Treasury Board in May 1973 and carried out jointly with the staffs of the Department of Finance and the Department of Supply and Services. Implementation of the recommendations of that Study will correct the treatment of these matters in future years, except for the specific areas on which further study is to be carried out as recommended by the Public Accounts Committee. My views on the Study and the resulting recommendations together with a summary of the implementation status of these recommendations are contained later in this section.

Loans likely to require parliamentary appropriation for write-off

The following loans, in my opinion, do not represent assets of the Government of Canada. They are in fact a deferral of current and prior years' expenditures treated in this manner either because of the requirements of the underlying legislation or the failure to initiate write-off action.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACCOUNT

Of the $2,158 million advanced to the Unemployment Insurance Account at March 31, 1976, $2,088 million relates to benefits paid to the unemployed before March 31, 1976. However, Section 136 of the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971, 1970-71-72, c. 48, provides that the Commission is not to be reimbursed until 1976-77 and 1977-78. This portion will be considered as an expenditure of Canada in these years and although the inclusion of this large amount as an asset is dictated by the wording of the Act, it does not represent an asset of the Government of Canada. Indeed of this amount $1,683 million, representing benefits paid for the year ended December 31 1975, was charged to expenditure for 1976-77 on April 21, 1976.

The balance of $70 million, advanced to the Commission to cover its operating deficit, is recoverable from contributions through future premiums.

CANADIAN BROADCASTING CORPORATION, NATIONAL CAPITAL COMMISSION, NORTHWEST TERRITORIES AND YUKON TERRITORY

The following outstanding loans totalling $384 million are described in Note 14 to the Financial Statements as likely to require parliamentary appropriations in subsequent fiscal years for their recovery:

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation	$198 million
National Capital Commission	38 "
Northwest Territories	105 "
	$384 million

These loans were made prior to March 31, 1975 to finance capital expenditures of these entities. Since that date, such capital expenditures have been financed by budgetary appropriations of Canada. Payments of principal and interest on the outstanding loans have been deferred by Order in Council until 1979 pending the write-off and deletion from the Accounts of Canada of the amounts owing.

LOANS TO SAINT JOHN HARBOUR BRIDGE AUTHORITY

These loans are included in three categories as follows:

National Harbours Board
Saint John Harbour Bridge Authority	$ 15.0 million
Miscellaneous—The Department of Finance
Saint John Harbour Bridge Authority	7.1 "
Municipal Development and Loan Board Advances	2.7 "
	$ 24.8 million

Revenues of the Saint John Harbour Bridge Authority have been insufficient to meet principal and interest payments on the National Harbours Board loan and the advances from the Municipal Development and Loan Board. The Miscellaneous Loan from the Department of Finance was made to cover the shortfalls on repayments of principal and interest. In these circumstances none of these loans can be regarded as collectible.

LOANS TO BE FORGIVEN

Loans to provincial governments include $246 million for winter capital projects of which an estimated $96 million relating to associated labour costs to May 31, 1975 is to be forgiven.

Outstanding loans made by the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development in respect of Indian housing assistance totalled $8.7 million at March 31, 1976. These loans are non-interest-bearing and are subject to conditional forgiveness.

Loans and advances, the carrying value of which is questionable

LOANS TO CROWN CORPORATIONS

A number of Crown corporations, including the Canadian National Railways, the National Harbours Board and The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, have a history of deficits and lack sufficient revenue to repay their outstanding loans except through parliamentary appropriations.

The amounts shown on the Statement of Assets and Liabilities include loans of $1,442 million to the Canadian National Railways and $315 million to the National Harbours Board. As has been pointed out in my Reports to the House of Commons, there is little prospect of these organizations being able to meet their principal and interest obligations. Loans to The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority total $625 million. Interest payments in arrears increased from $72 million at March 31, 1970, to $192 million at March 31, 1976 and it is extremely unlikely that the Authority will be able to repay its capital indebtedness.

LOANS TO DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

Advances, loans and investments—External includes $1,249 million in special loan assistance to developing countries. Most of these loans bear no interest and are usually repayable over 50 years with no payments falling due in the first 10 years. A certain number carry nominal interest rates of ¾ of 1%. Loans for such long periods with such low interest rates have the characteristics of grants.

In addition, this category includes $193 million representing special loan assistance to international development associations. These loans are working capital advances, have no repayment terms and bear no interest. Repayment will fall due only on termination of the association. These loans also have the characteristics of grants.

LOANS TO ATOMIC ENERGY OF CANADA

Included in the loans to Atomic Energy of Canada Limited are the following, exclusive of accrued interest, relating to prototype nuclear power stations:

Gentilly I, Québec	$ 82 million
Douglas Point, Ontario	70 "
	$152 million

Ontario Hydro and Hydro-Québec are committed, under contract, to offer to purchase the prototype nuclear power stations at Douglas Point and Gentilly respectively at prices economically viable to the Utilities when the stations have been demonstrated to be a safe and dependable source of power. The Company is in the process of segregating the research, development and demonstration value attributable to these stations and intends to request a Parliamentary appropriation for such amount. Whether the sale prices will be sufficient to permit the Company to repay the balance of the loans and related accrued interest remains to be determined.

INACTIVE LOANS

Accounts in this category comprise:

Loans to China
Export Credits Insurance Act	$ 49.4 million
Loans to Greece	6.5 "
	$ 55.9 million

These loans are currently deemed to be not revenue-producing or realizable. In fact, there has been no change in the outstanding balances over the last 20 years.

Allowance for losses on realization of assets

The allowance for losses of $546 million was established many years ago. This allowance is purely arbitrary and does not bear any relation to the matters observed on earlier in this section or to other possible losses. Moreover, departments are not currently required to identify delinquent loans and advances for purposes of assessing the adequacy of the allowance.

Accounting inconsistencies

While the accounting policies described in Note 1 to the Financial Statements describe the practices followed in the areas commented on below, I consider the following practices to be departures from the main accounting policies followed by the Government and to be inconsistent therewith.

UNDISBURSED BALANCES OF APPROPRIATIONS TO SPECIAL ACCOUNTS

The undisbursed balances of appropriations to special accounts totalling $94 million are made up of two basic amounts. The first portion ($85 million) represents the balance of amounts appropriated by Parliament and recorded as expenditures in the current and prior years. Because of special wording in the vote texts of the Appropriation Acts, these sums were not spent but were credited to special accounts to be available for spending in future years. The second portion ($8.6 million) represents revenues from the sale of surplus materials, supplies and equipment of the Department of National Defence which is also available for spending in future years because of the wording of the relevant legislation. These balances do not therefore constitute liabilities of the Government of Canada and the practice of recording them in this manner results in an overstatement of liabilities and net debt.

Amounts recorded as expenditures during 1975-76 and credited to special accounts amounted to $158 million while relevant expenditures from these accounts during the year amounted to $222 million. Revenues of $13 million from sales of surplus property and equipment and $1.0 million from sales of non-surplus property and equipment were credited by the Department of National Defence to its Surplus Crown Assets Account and Replacement of Material Account respectively. Expenditures and revenues are accordingly understated by $64 million and $14 million.

UNRECORDED SURPLUSES OR DEFICITS OF REVOLVING FUNDS

Departmental working capital advances include advances totalling $37 million to various revolving funds to finance the purchase of inventories or other aspects of the operations of revolving funds which would otherwise be met by budgetary appropriations. These advances are distinct from the advances made to revolving funds to finance the acquisition or construction of fixed assets. The Financial Statements of the Government of Canada for the year ended March 31, 1976 do not reflect the surpluses (or deficits) accumulated by a number of these funds at the year-end, the more important ones being the Airports Revolving Fund and the Supply Revolving Fund which show surpluses of $65 million and $3.0 million respectively as at March 31, 1976. In addition, there are a number of other funds which have retained surpluses or deficits of lesser amounts.

The regulations in respect of revolving fund operations state that:

"Revolving Funds and Working Capital Advances are expected to be self-sustaining. A surplus earned in any one year will be transferred to the Accounts of Canada as non-tax revenue, while a deficit will be recouped by authority of Parliament in final supplementary estimates unless special permission is granted to accumulate surpluses or carry over deficits."

Although the retention of surpluses by the two Funds referred to is in accordance with the authority granted to these Funds, this policy results in an inaccurate disclosure of the revenues and expenditures of the Government of Canada since those surpluses are used mostly to finance other types of expenditure, such as the acquisition of fixed assets, which would normally be financed by budgetary appropriations. Moreover, the failure of certain Appropriation Acts to establish a limit on the surplus than can be retained by a revolving fund (e.g. Airports Revolving Fund) reduces the control of Parliament over a fund's activities since accumulated surpluses provide a cushion against which losses or expenditures may be offset, thereby depriving Parliament of an opportunity to inquire into the reasons for the losses or the expenditures financed by surpluses.

RECORDING OF FIXED ASSETS

Departmental working capital advances include loans of $492 million to revolving funds, including $488 million to the Airports Revolving Fund for operating and capital purposes. These loans have been used principally to finance the acquisition of fixed assets. As noted on page 1.7 of Section 1, "The Scope and Methods of the Public Accounts" of Volume I of the 1975-76 Public Accounts, the effect of treating such advances as "non-budgetary" is to reflect as assets of the Government of Canada the fixed assets acquired thereby. This is contrary to the general treatment of fixed assets which must be acquired through budgetary expenditures and recorded at a nominal value of $1 and it results in an overstatement of assets normally recognized on the Statement of Assets and Liabilities of Canada.

The outstanding loans to the Airports Revolving Fund include $121 million in respect of land acquisition costs at the Pickering site of the proposed Toronto II Airport on which further development has been postponed for the present. These land acquisition costs include capitalized interest on that portion of the loans that apply to the Pickering development. Such interest for 1975-76 amounted to $18 million.

SUPPLEMENTARY RETIREMENT BENEFITS ACCOUNT

Actuarial valuations of the superannuation accounts (Public Service, Canadian Forces and Royal Canadian Mounted Police) are made quinquennially, with any resulting actuarial deficiencies being recorded in the accounts and amortized to budgetary expenditure in five equal annual instalments commencing in the fiscal year in which the actuarial report is laid before Parliament. No similar actuarial valuation is made, however, of the Supplementary Retirement Benefits Account.

The Supplementary Retirement Benefits Act, R.S., c. 43 (1st Supplement), introduced, in 1970, an indexation scheme in respect of superannuation benefits to current and future superannuates. Additional employee contributions, matching government contributions and interest were credited to the Supplementary Retirement Benefits Account from which the increased benefits resulting from indexation were to be met. The indexation factor for the first two years of the scheme was 2 per cent annually. An amendment to the Act in 1973 increased this factor to the consumer price index. This amendment also provided that the indexation benefits to pre-1970 superannuates and that part of the indexation benefits to post-1969 superannuates in excess of their share of the contributions and interest credited to the Supplementary Retirement Benefits Account would be met from the Consolidated Revenue Fund and not from the Supplementary Retirement Benefits Account. During 1975-76 increased superannuation benefits paid due to indexation amounted to $90 million, of which $89 million was charged primarily to budgetary expenditure and accordingly to the Consolidated Revenue Fund, while only $1.5 million was charged to the Supplementary Retirement Benefits Account. Comparative figures for the preceding year were $57 million and $2.2 million respectively. An actuarial valuation was not made of the liability assumed by the government at the time of the 1973 amendment to the Supplementary Retirement Benefits Act. The substantial benefit payments charged to the Consolidated Revenue Fund since January 1, 1974 indicate that this liability would be material. In addition, no periodic actuarial valuation of the current obligation of the Supplementary Retirement Benefits Account is being made. The actuarial liability for this Account is therefore not being recognized in the Financial Statements of Canada.

Accounts payable

The accounts payable of $984 million reflected in the financial statements represent accounts paid in April of the following fiscal year for work performed, goods received or services rendered prior to the end of the current fiscal year and charged to the current fiscal year in accordance with Section 30 of the Financial Administration Act.

Accounts totalling $89 million applicable to the fiscal year ended on March 31, 1976 which were carried over to be paid in the following fiscal year are not recorded in the financial statements but are disclosed in Section 11 of Volume 1 of the Public Accounts "Summary of Accounts Properly Chargeable to the Fiscal Year 1975-76 but carried over to the Fiscal Year 1976-77". Of this total, $11 million represents amounts payable to other government departments and agencies. Unrecorded accounts payable to third parties amounted to $78 million, which remained unpaid for the following reasons:

Invoices received on or before April 30
Insufficient funds	$ 28 million
Other reasons	32 "
Invoices received after April 30	18 "
	$ 78 million

The unpaid accounts to third parties at March 31, 1976 were $21 million lower than at March 31, 1975, however, Note 6 to the financial statements discloses unpaid retroactive salaries and wages at March 31, 1976 in an estimated amount of $48 million. No comparative amount was disclosed at March 31, 1975.

Based on the reported data, the net effect of the unrecorded unpaid accounts and retroactive salaries and wages is that the budgetary deficit for the year and the net debt at March 31, 1976 are understated by $27 million and $126 million respectively on the basis that all such unpaid accounts and unpaid retroactive salaries were chargeable to budgetary expenditure directly or indirectly.

Disclosure of revenues and expenditures

Certain revenues and expenditures are presented in a manner which distorts the total revenue and expenditure of the Government as well as the actual results of the operations of the individual departments concerned—

i. Revenue is stated net of expenditure totalling $84 million made from gross postal revenue under authority of the Post Office Act as disclosed in Note 2 (item ii b) to the financial statements. In addition revenue does not include $369 million representing non-tax revenue credited to budgetary expenditures, under authority of relevant Appropriation Acts, and included in the $783 million referred to in item ii d of the same note. These practices have no effect on the reported deficit for the year but result in an understatement of both revenues and expenditures of $453 million.

ii. As disclosed in Note 3 to the financial statements, revenues and expenditures of the Ministry of Urban Affairs have each been overstated by $77 million.

Study of the Accounts of Canada

The Report on the Study of the Accounts of Canada was tabled in the House of Commons on January 30, 1976, and referred to the Standing Committee on Public Accounts. On February 10, the Committee commenced deliberations and on March 9, the Fifth Report of the Standing Committee was tabled in the House of Commons. The Committee, after careful examination and having obtained the views of my Office, endorsed the 41 recommendations and recommended that the Treasury Board implement them as soon as it was technically possible to do so.

The Committee concluded as a result of the discussions that certain specific areas had not been given sufficient attention and felt that further study was necessary. These areas are:

- —the accounting of current and future loans to other governments;
- —the accounting of current and future loans to government-controlled organizations whose financing is unrealistic and who therefore may not be in a position to repay such loans;
- —the classification of Crown corporations under Schedules C and D of the Financial Administration Act in acccordance with the principles outlined in the Study; and
- —the use of improper or unacceptable accounting principles by Crown corporations.

We fully support the 41 recommendations and have so stated to the members of the Committee. Although in certain areas, we favour changes that go further than those recommended in the Study, these recommendations are all in harmony with our views and should be implemented as quickly as possible. In the meantime, discussions should be continued on these possible further changes which include those referred to in the report of the Standing Committee as well as further changes in the format and content of the main financial statements of the Government of Canada.

The Financial Administration Branch of the Treasury Board is responsible for ensuring that the recommendations of the Study are implemented. In this regard, the Branch has undertaken to co-ordinate the implementation program, establish target dates and provide the necessary assistance. The recommendations have been segregated between those endorsing the retention of existing policies, those requiring legislative changes and changes in the Estimates process, and others requiring changes in regulations, directives or guidelines.

In accordance with Treasury Board's implementation plans to give effect to the recommendations in the Report on the Study of the Accounts of Canada, the new presentation format will be introduced as far as possible in the summary financial statements published in Volume I of the Public Accounts as at March 31, 1977. Further adjustments necessary to enhance the quality of information in these and supplementary financial statements are planned for implementation by March 31, 1978 to the extent permitted by enabling legislation at that time. In addition, some practices which the Study recommended be discontinued are being actively discouraged prior to the latter date.

Over the years, in the interest of sound financial disclosure, I have commented in my Reports on the practices that will now be corrected. My Office therefore firmly intends to monitor adherence to the present implementation program and to report whenever it appears that delays will occur.

FINANCIAL OPERATIONS

This section outlines the financial operations of the government in 1975-76 giving a brief summary of the budgetary and non-budgetary transactions, unmatured debt transactions and changes in the cash position and the debt position during the fiscal year. More detailed explanations are given in subsequent sections of this volume.

To meet the needs of those interested in the impact of the operations of the Government of Canada on the economy, revenues and expenditures re-classified on a national accounts basis are also included.

Table 1 summarizes the financial transactions of the government for 1975-76 and 1974-75 and shows how they influenced the cash balances of the Receiver General for Canada. In particular, it shows that in 1975-76 the total budgetary and non-budgetary receipts of the government, excluding receipts from operations in unmatured debt, rose by 15% to $62,326 million while its total payments, excluding the repayment of debt, increased by 20% to $67,088 million. As a result of these changes, there was a cash deficit of $4,762 million. New issues of $25,694 million of unmatured debt provided the funds to cover this deficit and to repay $21,085 million of debt. The net effect of all these transactions resulted in an decrease in Receiver General bank balances of $153 million.

[1] Budget forecast reflects Old Age Security transactions charged to budgetary operations for twelve months.

[2] Actual figures reflect Old Age Security transactions charged to budgetary operations for nine months as a result of an amendment to the Old Age Security Act which came into effect at the end of June, 1975.

Budgetary transactions

Revenue increased by $4,250 million to a total of $29,159 million in 1975-76. The major increases in revenue were $2,134 million from personal income tax, $1,324 million from corporation income tax, $489 million from sales and other excise taxes, $425 million from the special excise tax on gasoline introduced in the June 23, 1975 budget and $265 million from return on investments. In addition, oil export revenues dropped by $606 million from 1974-75 due to the fall in the rate of the charge and significant reductions in the volume of oil exported.

Expenditure rose by $7,126 million, or 27.3%, to $33,181 million in 1975-76; in 1974-75 the corresponding increases were $6,000 million and 29.9%. The greater part of the rise in expenditure in 1975-76 was the result of increases of $3,971 million in expenditure on health and welfare as a result of an amendment to the Old Age Security Act which came into effect at the end of June 1975, whereby benefits paid were charged to budgetary expenditures for 9 months in 1975-76, $1,183 million in economic development and support, $747 million in public debt charges and $468 million in defence. These four functions of the government accounted for $6,369 million of the increase in expenditure in 1975-76. In 1974-75 they accounted for $3,978 million of the increase of $6,000 million in that year.

Table 3 presents revenue by source and expenditure by function for both 1974-75 and 1975-76. It shows that the effects of the changes in revenue and expenditure just described resulted in a budgetary deficit of $4,022 million compared with the budgetary deficit of $1,146 million in 1974-75.

The changes in revenue, expenditure and the surplus or deficit during the last twenty-five fiscal years are given in Table 4. This table shows that surpluses were produced only in six fiscal years, and that there has been a general ascending trend in the case of both revenues and expenditures during the period.

Non-budgetary transactions

Social Security Accounts

The three social security accounts are those for the Old Age Security Fund, the Canada Pension Plan and the Unemployment Insurance Account. Details of their transactions in 1974-75 and 1975-76 are given in Table 6. The Old Age Security Fund ceased to exist at the end of June, 1975 under amendments to the Old Age Security Act.

The Old Age Security Fund up to and including 1971 was financed by tax receipts. The old age security taxes were eliminated after 1971 but the Old Age Security Fund remained and amounts determined by reference to the previously existing old age security tax rates were credited to this fund. These receipts were $911 million in 1975-76. Outlays were $912 million in 1975-76. In 1974-75 outlays of $3,445 million exceeded receipts by $32 million.

The Canada Pension Plan had receipts of $2,129 million in 1975-76 which exceeded its outlays of $2,063 million by $66 million. An amount of $1,441 million was invested in purchasing provincial and federal government bonds.

The Unemployment Insurance Account receipts of $3,442 million, of which $502 million were advances from the government, were $67 million less than outlays of $3,509 million. In 1974-75, receipts were $2,520 million and outlays were $2,560 million of which $63 million were repayment of advances.

Other Non-Budgetary Transactions

(excluding unmatured debt transactions)

Other operations include receipts from other annuity, insurance and pension accounts, loans, investments and advances, sums required to finance additions to foreign exchange reserves and a variety of miscellaneous transactions. The balances from these are shown in Table 1.

Other annuity, insurance and pension accounts include the superannuation accounts of the public service, the Canadian forces and the RCMP, the government annuities account and certain other accounts of a similar nature such as the account for retiring allowances to Members of Parliament. The net receipts from these accounts fell from $1,770 million in 1974-75 to $1,735 million in 1975-76.

Loans, investments and advances are made to Crown corporations, provincial governments, governments outside Canada, international organizations, private businesses and individuals. The greater part of these loans, investments and advances are made to Crown corporations: in 1975-76 net loans to and investments in Crown corporations were $2,934 million as compared with $1,583 million in 1974-75. Other loans, investments and advances were $650 million in 1975-76 and $827 million in 1974-75.

Foreign exchange operations to finance increases in Canada's international reserves include receipts from Special Drawing Rights (S.D.R.'s) issued by the International Monetary Fund and payments arising from subscriptions of capital to the International Monetary Fund, advances to the Exchange Fund and the redemption of non-interest-bearing notes payable to the International Monetary Fund. During 1975-76, there were no receipts from S.D.R.'s the total value of those held remaining at $370 million. The net decrease in advances to the Exchange Fund during the year was $39 million as a result of advances to and repayments from it of $6,291 million and $6,330 million respectively. The net effect of all foreign exchange operations of this type resulted in a net decrease of $23 million in total advances in 1975-76 as compared with a decrease of $643 million in 1974-75.

Collections of provincial income tax totalled $4,105 million during the year and payments to the provinces were $4,039 million. In 1974-75 collections were $3,420 million and payments were $3,616 million.

Miscellaneous operations produced net payments of $1,539 million in 1975-76 as compared to net receipts of $218 million in 1974-75.

[1] Under amendments to the Old Age Security Act, which came into effect at the end of June, 1975, the Old Age Security Fund ceased to exist, benefits paid were charged to budgetary expenditure and transfers of personal and corporation income taxes and sales taxes previously made to the Fund were discontinued. No adjustments were made to 1974-75 figures to reflect these changes for comparative purposes.

[2] These amounts represent only estimate of payments to beneficiaries.

Unmatured debt Transactions

The net cash requirement arising from the budget, operations of social security funds and other operations was $4,762 million in 1975-76 as compared with $1,507 million in 1974-75.

Cash requirements were met entirely by net issues of marketable bonds, Treasury bills and Canada Savings Bonds. In 1975-76, there was a net increase of $1,132 million of marketable bonds; in 1974-75, the net increase in the issues of these bonds was $659 million. In addition, there was a net increase of $865 million in Treasury bill issues as compared with $725 million in 1974-75. The Canada Savings Bond issue of 1975-76 resulted in an increase of $2,602 million as compared with an increase of $2,509 million in 1974-75. Other borrowing produced a net receipt of $10 million as compared with a net receipt of $9 million in 1974-75.

Change in cash position

A summary of all these operations is given in Table 1 which shows that their net effect was to decrease the bank balances of the Receiver General, including those in foreign currencies, by $153 million from $3,205 million at March 31, 1975 to $3,052 million at March 31, 1976.

Change in debt position

As a result of all the operations just described, the gross public debt increased by $9,051 million to $71,751 million at March 31, 1976, net recorded assets increased by $5,029 million to $48,454 million and the net debt increased by $4,022 million to $23,297 million.

STATEMENT OF CHANGES IN THE DEBT AND CASH POSITION

The changes in the debt and cash position of the Government of Canada are defined as the net proceeds from bond and Treasury bill operations adjusted for other receipts and payments that influence the Receiver General's cash balances.

The tables setting out the changes in the debt and cash position of the Government and the internal items eliminated in determining the changes are as follows:

Table 7 shows the gross financial resources available during the year and how they were used, the net change in the debt and cash position and changes during the year in items that influenced that position.

Table 8 summarizes the elimination of gross internal and other transactions that neither provided nor used financial resources. It also shows how the eliminated transactions influence budgetary revenue and expenditure, the budgetary deficit, and asset and liability accounts.

The totals of the financial resources provided and used were respectively $27,743.1 million and $32,445.6 million (1974-75, $25,781.1 million and $27,276.4 million), so that the net increase in the debt and cash position was $4,702.5 million (1974-75 $1,495.3 million). This net increase is analyzed in Table 7 to show that it is the net proceeds from bond and Treasury bill operations adjusted for other receipts and payments that influence the Receiver General's cash balances.

STATEMENT OF CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL OPERATIONS

The Statement of Consolidated Financial Operations is prepared on a different basis of classification from that described in Section 1. The preparation of this consolidated statement begins with the identification and elimination of internal financial transactions that do not lead to changes in the balance of the Consolidated Revenue Fund. The basis of re-classification of non-budgetary transactions is reflected in the first part of the statement to derive revenue and expenditure after consolidation. As a result, revenue, after consolidation, is defined as all receipts other than those receipts and certain other credits derived from the reduction of assets and the incurring of liabilities while expenditure is defined as outlays other than those outlays and certain other charges to increase assets and decrease liabilities.

Asset and liability account transactions normally include certain transactions with third parties that do not lead to changes in the balance of the Consolidated Revenue Fund and such transactions influence other assets and liabilities. In this statement the Government's assets include only financial claims acquired on individuals, corporations and other bodies outside the Government of Canada and its liabilities are financial obligations to be paid in future to such outside parties, both as a result of events and transactions prior to the accounting date.

The definitions of revenue, expenditure, assets and liabilities given in the two previous paragraphs are based on those set out in the Study of the Accounts of Canada.

Table 9 shows revenue by category and expenditure under three main types. It also summarizes the increases and decreases in assets and liabilities.

Table 10 summarizes the elimination of gross internal transactions and also shows how eliminated transactions influenced budgetary revenue, expenditure, the budgetary deficit, and asset and liability accounts.

Table 11 shows the adjusted revenue, expenditure and adjusted budgetary deficit and/or adjusted budgetary surplus after elimination of gross internal financial transactions. It also provides a reconciliation between the budgetary deficit as shown in the Statement of Revenue and Expenditure and the adjusted budgetary deficit and/or adjusted budgetary surplus disclosed in this table.

As shown in Table 9, consolidated revenue and expenditure were respectively $34,855.3 million and $35,968.2 million (1974-75, $32,109.1 million and $30,602.1 million) and the consolidated deficit was $1,112.9 million (1974-75, consolidated surplus, $1,507.0 million).

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE ON A NATIONAL ACCOUNTS BASIS

Revenue and expenditure, on a national accounts basis, increased during the year 1975-76. The rate of increase of expenditures far exceeded that of revenue, however, consequently the deficit on a national accounts basis increased from $121 million in 1974-75 to $4,124 million in 1975-76.

Personal direct taxes rose in excess of 11% or $1,685 million in 1975-76. Higher labour income of 14%, offset to some extent by higher personal exemptions, was the most significant factor in this increase.

Corporate direct taxes increased by only 2.8% or $140 million in line with the very modest increase in corporation profits.

Indirect taxes, the second largest component of revenue, decreased during 1975-76 by $316 million or 4% as opposed to an increase of $1,875 million in 1974-75. A decrease of almost 38% in the yield of the oil export charge, due to a reduction in the rate and a fall in oil exports contributed to the decline in this major component of revenue. Sales taxes decreased during the year reflecting the first full year impact of the rate decreases introduced in the November 1974 budget. This decrease was offset by the yield from the newly enacted gasoline special excise tax.

Federal investment income increased by $76 million or 3.5%, down from an advance of 20.6% in the previous year. Interest on loans and advances and on pension funds managed by the government, each rose by $156 million. This was in large measure offset by a decline in remitted trading profits of government enterprises.

Federal expenditure increased during the year by 18.5% or $5,688 million compared with a $6,994 million rise in the previous year. All components reflected increases of varying degree with transfers to persons, transfers to other levels of government, goods and services non-defence and interest on public debt accounting for more than three quarters of the total increase.

The increase of $1,887 million or 20.7% in the transfers to persons was associated with larger benefit payments under the old age security (+$487 million) and the unemployment insurance (+$989 million) programs. The former resulted from increases in payments in keeping with the rise in the cost of living index and the latter reflected the continued high level of unemployment during the year.

Increases in the transfer to other levels of government component of $864 million or 12.8% reflected higher outlays under such programs as Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act (+$367 million), Medical Care Act (+$33 million), Canada Assistance Plan (+$259 million), Bilingualism (+$38 million) and grants for regional economic expansion (+$45 million).

Interest on the public debt rose by $744 million or 23.3% reflecting the higher rates of interest prevailing during the year and from a net increase in outstanding debt.

Expenditure on non-defence goods and services amounted to $5,842 million for an increase of $810 million or 16.1%, compared to the implicit price index increase of 9.7%. Outlays on defence goods and services rose during the year by just over 15% or $399 million.

Subsidy payments rose by 23.3% during 1975-76. This rise of $570 million was due mainly to higher payments to oil importers in Eastern Canada (+$454 million) under the oil stabilization program, larger payments in connection with the Two Price Wheat Act (+$107 million) and increased compensation to rail companies under the National Transportation Act.

Payments to non-residents continued to rise significantly during 1975-76 increasing by 28% due to higher official contributions abroad (+$119 million) under the various international assistance and food aid programs.

Reconciliation of the Public Accounts and National Accounts Presentation

The reconciliation of revenue and expenditure, within the national accounts framework, with that within the budgetary or public accounts framework is presented in Tables 13 and 14.

The framework (national accounts or public accounts) within which the annual budget or surplus is computed, has a significant impact on its level. The contributing factors to the difference may be grouped within three classifications:

(i) transactions included within the budgetary or public accounts framework, but excluded from the national accounts framework, e.g. Post Office which is deemed by international convention, to be an enterprise in national accounts analysis,

(ii) extra-budgetary transactions excluded from the budgetary or public accounts presentation, but included in the national accounts determination of government revenue and expenditure, e.g. the Unemployment Insurance Account,

(iii) other adjustments required to convert data in accordance with national accounts concepts, such as those required to convert investment income, corporate income tax and capital formation from a cash to an accrual basis, and those required to incorporate the transactions of other government funds and Crown agencies within the national accounts framework.

In the public accounts, the budgetary deficit of $1,146 million in 1974-75 increased to $4,022 million in 1975-76, while within the national accounts framework the deficit of $121 million in 1974-75 increased to a deficit of $4,124 million in 1975-76.

REVENUE

Budgetary revenue falls into two main classes, tax revenue and non-tax revenue. The most important of these from a revenue standpoint and its effect on the country's economy is tax revenue which accounted for 90% of total revenue in 1975-76.

The main sources of tax revenue are personal and corporation income taxes, excise taxes (including the general sales tax, the oil export charge and the special excise tax on gasoline), customs import duties and excise duties.

Non-tax revenue consists of return on investments which includes interest received on loans and advances made by the government to crown corporations, provincial and municipal governments, national governments and departmental operating accounts and the government's share of profits made by crown corporations; revenue which arises from the operations of the Post Office; and other miscellaneous items arising from the normal activities of the government.

In addition to those receipts referred to above, there are receipts arising from certain program activities which are not credited to budgetary revenue as such, but are taken into the government's accounts as credits to the appropriations covering those programs. The authority for this action is included in the program details of the Appropriation Acts.

Also, under federal-provincial agreements the federal government collects provincial income taxes for certain provinces which are not included as budgetary revenue but are credited to a deposit account pending their transmittal to the relevant province.

Other receipts which are not included in budgetary revenue are taxes or their equivalent arising from provisions of the Old Age Security Act, collections under provisions of the Canada Pension Plan and contributions under the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Summary

Budgetary revenue in 1975-76 totalled $29,159 million, $4,251 million or 17% over the comparable amount of $24,908 million received in 1974-75. Tax revenue at $26,297 million accounted for 90% of total budgetary revenue and non-tax revenue at $2,862 million accounted for 10% of the total revenue for 1975-76. In 1974-75 tax revenue was $22,328 million or 90% of the total and non-tax revenue was $2,580 million or 10%.

Tax revenue increased by $3,969 million over 1974-75 receipts; the yield from personal income taxes was $2,134 million higher, from corporation income taxes $1,323 million higher, from sales tax $465 million higher, from oil export charge $382 million lower, from customs import duties $78 million higher. Non-tax revenue increased by $282 million; return on investments was $265 million higher, Post Office revenue was $41 million lower and other non-tax revenue were $58 million higher than in 1974-75.

The amount of revenue is affected by changes in taxation rates, by changes in the base on which taxes are calculated and by variations in economic conditions. Income tax liability relates to the income of a taxation year but the system of collecting personal and corporation income taxes by instalments produces a distribution of receipts throughout the fiscal year. The distribution of revenue receipts between months may be affected by administrative factors.

Under fiscal arrangements that became operative in 1962, the federal government entered into tax-collection agreements under which it collects the provincial personal income taxes of all provinces except Quebec and the provincial corporation income taxes of all provinces except Ontario and Quebec.

Personal and corporation income taxes collected by the federal government on behalf of the provinces, and subsequently remitted to the provinces, are not included in the tables shown here.

During the year collections were $4,105 million and payments to the provinces were $4,039 million.

Tax Revenue

The effect of the tax changes implemented in 1975-76 was to moderate the growth in revenue which ordinarily would accompany a period of rapid growth in the economy.

As is shown in Table 1, tax revenue totalled $26,297 million in 1975-76 compared with $22,328 million in 1974-75. The main changes were increases of $2,134 million in personal income taxes, $1,323 million in corporation income tax, $465 million in sales tax, $425 million in gasoline tax and $78 million in customs import duties.

Table 3 presents a comparison for the latest five fiscal years of tax revenue and old age security taxes on a per capita basis. Tax revenue which was $579.83 per capita in 1971-72 was $1,147.18 per capita in 1975-76; old age security taxes which were $97.76 per capita in 1971-72 were $34.75 in 1975-76.

[1] The old age security taxes were eliminated after 1971 but amounts determined by reference to the previously existing old age security tax rates are credited to the old age security fund.

[2] Under amendments to the Old Age Security Act, which came into effect at the end of June, 1975, the Old Age Security Fund ceased to exist, benefits paid are to be charged to budgetary expenditure and transfers of personal and corporation income taxes and sales tax previously made to the fund are to be discontinued.

[3] During the fiscal year, the revenue per capita was determined by the October 1, population.

Chart 5-B

Tax on personal income

In 1975-76 personal income tax was again the largest source of government revenue. Its yield (excluding credits to the old age security fund to June 1975) was $12,202 million or 42% of all budgetary revenue compared with $10,068 million or 40% in 1974-75. The increase of $2,134 million was due mainly to a higher level of personal incomes in 1975-76.

As is shown in Table 2, personal income taxes deducted at source were considerably lower in April, May and June. This was due to the unusually large refund payments made in these months. Table 2 also shows that other collections, which are direct payments by individuals, were higher in May reflecting the payment of balances due for the taxation year 1974 and also in July, October and January reflecting the receipt of quarterly payments.

An amount of $507 million in respect of personal income taxes was credited to the old age security fund compared with $1,642 million in 1974-75. The 1975-76 amount of $507 million represents credits to the end of June 1975.

Corporation income tax

Corporation income tax was the second largest source of government revenue. The yield (excluding credits to the old age security fund to June 1975) was $5,608 million or 19% of total budgetary revenue compared with $4,285 million or 17% in 1974-75. The increase of $1,323 million was due mainly to higher corporation income during the year.

As reflected in Table 2 collections in April include final payments in respect of the 1974 taxation year.

An amount of $140 million in respect of corporate income taxes was credited to the old age security fund compared with $551 million in 1974-75.

Non-resident tax

Revenue in this category is derived from tax withheld from dividends, interest, rents, royalties, alimony and income from estates and trusts paid to non-residents. Collections for 1975-76 were $481 million, an increase of $54 million or 13% over the 1974-75 total.

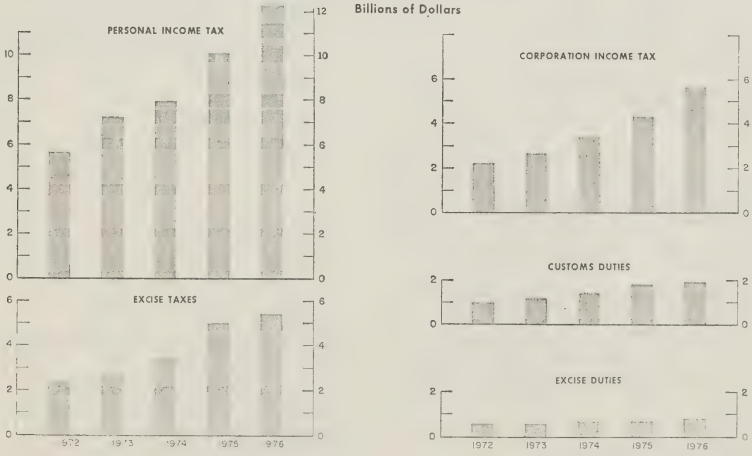
Excise taxes

Excise taxes including the sales tax, oil export charge and gasoline tax totalled $5,291 million, 18% of total budgetary revenue compared with $4,983 million or 20% in 1974-75.

Included in excise tax is $1,063 million in oil export charge, applicable to exports made since the beginning of March 1974, imposed under the Excise Tax Act. From a revenue standpoint the general sales tax was the most important tax levied under the Excise Tax Act. Receipts (excluding the amount credited to the old age security fund) were $3,365 million, $465 million more than 1974-75 receipts.

An amendment to the Excise Tax Act, effective June 1975, provides for a special excise tax on gasoline of ten cents per gallon. Under certain conditions the amounts received may be refunded to purchasers. As of March 31, 1976, $481 million was received and $56 million refunded and charged to revenue. This special excise tax in part offset the oil export charge decrease in revenue due to the fall in the rate of the charge and significant reductions in the volume of oil exported.

An amount of $150 million in respect of sales tax was credited to the old age security fund to June 1975, compared with $966 million in 1974-75.



The yield from other excise taxes levied under the Excise Tax Act, other than the general sales tax, the oil export charge and the gasoline tax was $438 million, $24 million more than in 1974-75. Under amendments to the Old Age Security Act, effective June 26, 1975, the old age security fund ceased to exist. Benefits paid are charged to budgetary expenditure and transfers of personal, corporation and sales tax previously made to the fund were discontinued. Credited to the fund in 1974-75 was $1,642 million in personal income tax, $550 million in corporation income tax and $966 million in sales tax.

Customs import duties

Receipts from this source totalled $1,887 million compared with $1,809 million in 1974-75.

Excise duties

Excise duties were levied on alcoholic beverages (other than wines) and tobacco products. (Additional taxes on tobacco products and taxes on wines were levied under the Excise Tax Act). Net receipts in 1975-76 were $815 million compared with $748 million in 1974-75.

Gross receipts of $536 million from duties on alcoholic beverages consisted of $352 million in respect of spirits and $184 million in respect of beer and were $46 million higher than collections of $490 million in 1974-75 of which $312 million was in respect of spirits and $178 million in respect of beer.

Gross receipts of $290 million from duties on tobacco products were $31 million more than in 1974-75.

Refunds and drawbacks of $11 million resulted in net excise duty collections of $815 million in 1975-76. In 1974-75 refunds and drawbacks were $1 million and net receipts were $748 million.

Miscellaneous

Revenue under this heading during the fiscal year was $11 million compared with $7 million in 1974-75.

Non-Tax Revenue

Non-tax revenue totalled $2,862 million in 1975-76, $282 million or 11% higher than in 1974-75. The main changes were increases of $265 million in return on investments and an increase of $37 million in refunds of previous years' expenditure. The increase of $282 million in non-tax revenue resulted mainly from the normal growth in returns on government investments. The principal components of this increase were Bank of Canada profits, which rose by $102 million and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation interest and remitted profits which rose by $73 million.

APPROPRIATIONS

Although a major part of the expenses of the public service is defrayed from moneys granted by Parliament in the annual Appropriation Acts, substantial payments are made under authority of other acts which authorize expenditures out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund for specified purposes and for such definite or indefinite amounts and during such periods of time as the acts may prescribe. The spending authority granted in the annual Appropriation Acts differs from that granted in "statutory" authorities in that it is usually for a specific amount and of definite duration and, unless there is provision to the contrary in the wording of the vote, any unused balance lapses at the end of the fiscal year for which it is granted, as provided by section 30 of the Financial Administration Act.

Table 1 gives a summary of budgetary expenditure provided under the authority of the annual Appropriation Acts and various statutory authorities for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1976. A statement in greater detail, classified by department, is given in volume II.

In addition an amount of $33 million was carried fowrard from 1974-75 in accordance with provisions made in the original appropriations.

Budgetary expenditures during 1975-76, under authority of these appropriations, totalled $14,963 million, consequently, $822 million, or about 5% of the amount provided by the Appropriation Acts for budgetary expenditures, was unspent at the close of the fiscal year. Of this amount $794 million lapsed in accordance with section 30 of the Financial Administration Act and $29 million was available for expenditure in 1976-77 in accordance with provisions of the Appropriation Acts.

Budgetary expenditures in 1975-76 under the authority of statutes authorizing payments from the Consolidated Revenue Fund for specific purposes without further appropriations amounted in the aggregate to $18,218 million, accounting for approximately 55% of the total budgetary expenditures of $33,181 million. A comparative summary of these statutory expenditures by principal classes is shown in table 2.

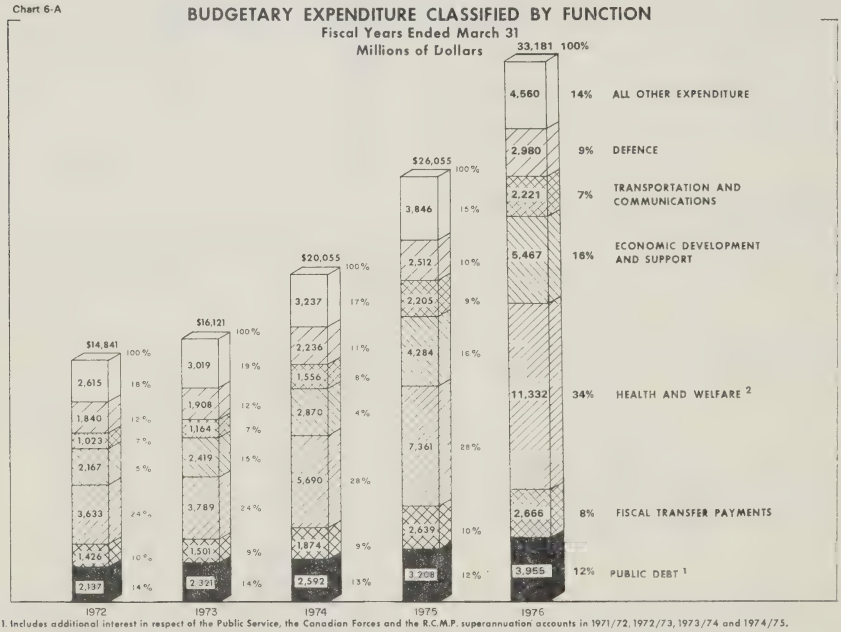
EXPENDITURES

As statements of accountability to Parliament, it is appropriate that the expenditures should be reported on the basis of the classifications adopted in the Appropriation Acts and the Estimates, so in the accounting statements in subsequent sections of this report and in the analysis of the year's expenditures later in this section of the survey these are the classifications that have been followed. However, analyses of expenditure by function or purpose on the one hand, and by object or type of goods or service acquired on the other, supplement the information contained in statements of expenditure by departmental or administrative units.



EXPENDITURE BY FUNCTION

The government's budgetary expenditure classified on a functional basis is summarized in Table 3 with comparative figures for the previous fiscal year.

The largest category of expenditure under the functional classification is health and welfare which accounted for $11,332 million or 34% of total expenditures.

Expenditures for economic development and support were $5,467 million or 16%, under the defence category, $2,980 million or 9% and under public debt charges they were $3,955 million or 12%. For comparative purposes a five year table is presented under "Supplementary Statements" at the end of this section.

EXPENDITURE BY MAJOR CLASSIFICATION

Expenditure is usually greater towards the end of the fiscal year because many construction contracts which are let in the early part of the year do not come up for payment until some months later and deficits sustained by Crown corporations and losses incurred in the operation of various agencies and accounts are not known until the end or towards the end of the fiscal year. Also, under section 30 of the Financial Administration Act, for thirty days after March 31, payments properly applicable to the old year may be made and charged to that year's accounts. Table 4 presents a summary of expenditure by month for 1975-76.

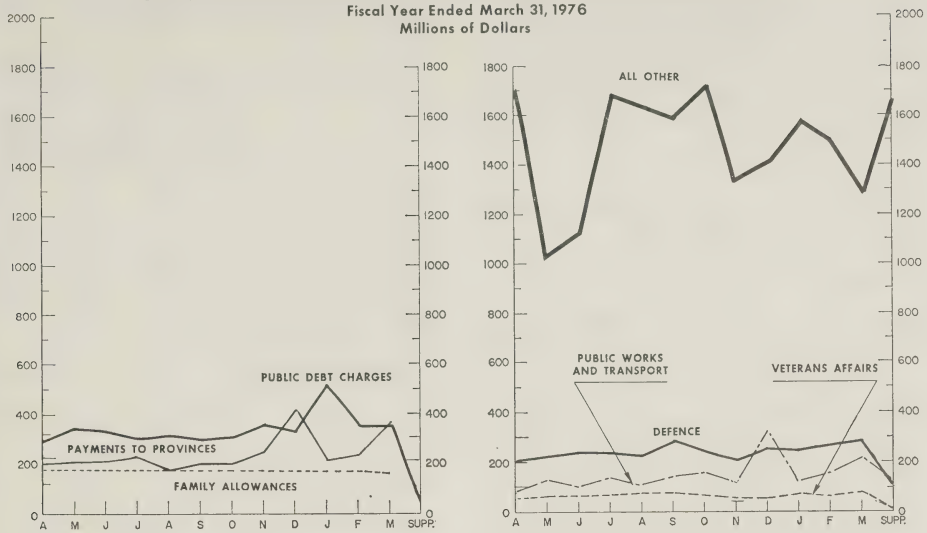
BUDGETARY EXPENDITURE BY MONTHS AND MAJOR CLASSIFICATION

Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 1976

Millions of Dollars



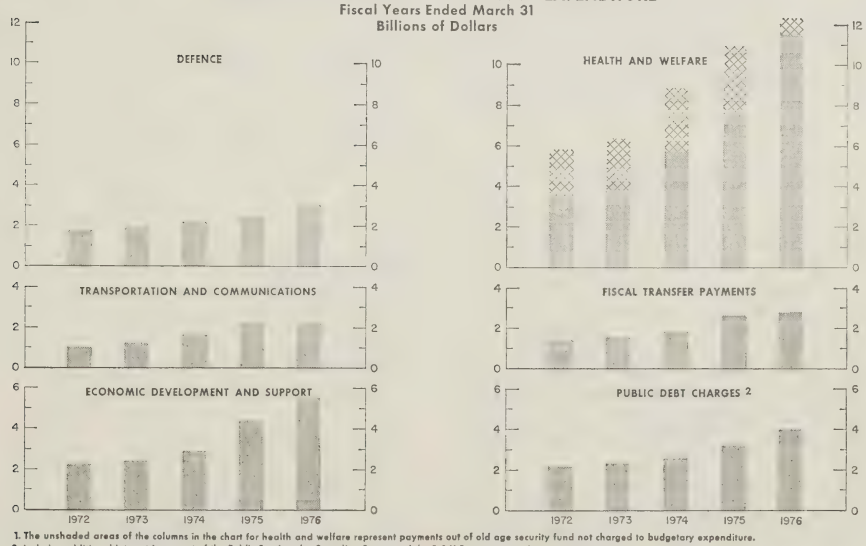


Chart 6-C

PRINCIPAL CLASSES OF BUDGETARY EXPENDITURE

Fiscal Years Ended March 31

Billions of Dollars

1. The unshaded areas of the columns in the chart for health and welfare represent payments out of old age security fund not charged to budgetary expenditure.
2. Includes additional interest in respect of the Public Service, the Canadian Forces and the R.C.M.P. superannuation accounts.

Defence

Expenditures of the Department of National Defence did not follow any definite monthly pattern with $1,378 million or 46% being spent in the first six months and $1,596 million or 54% in the remainder of the fiscal year, of which $383 million or 13% was spent in March and the supplementary period. This reflects payments on construction and other contracts coming due late in the year.

Public debt charges

Monthly charges in this category reflect some variations due to adjustments in the accrual of interest.

Payments to provinces

Public Works and Transport

Expenditure under these categories was $638 million or 35% for the first six months compared with $1,188 million or 65% for the remainder of the fiscal year. This was due mainly to construction contracts coming due for payment late in the year and to payments by the Department of Transport in December to the railways for revenues foregone by maintaining existing freight rates in 1975 and in the supplementary period in respect of the Canadian National Railways.

All other expenditure

Some of the large items in this grouping are (a) charges in the supplementary period of $301 million to cover the 1975-76 net operating loss of the Agricultural Stabilization Board and (b) charges in respect of total payments for the fiscal year of $1,709 million under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act, $856 million for the development and utilization of manpower, $886 million under the Canada Assistance Plan and $535 million in post-secondary education payments.

EXPENDITURE BY STANDARD OBJECT

In Table 5 a comparative summary of budgetary expenditure by standard object is presented for the fiscal years 1974-75 and 1975-76.

Grants, contributions and other transfer payments were again the largest category and accounted for $18,557 million or 56% of the total budgetary expenditure compared with $13,692 million or 53% in 1974-75. Payments included fiscal transfer payments to provinces $2,666 million, payments under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act $1,709 million, family allowances $1,958 million, Canada Assistance Plan payments $886 million and post-secondary education payments $535 million.

Salaries and wages accounted for $4,911 million or 15% of total expenditure compared with $4,252 million or 16% in 1974-75. The increase of $659 million was due mainly to higher salary rates.

Public debt charges

Public debt charges consist of interest on public debt, annual amortization of bond discounts and commissions, cost of issuing new loans, other costs incurred in servicing the public debt and additional interest in respect of superannuation accounts. Total charges were $3,955 million for 1975-76 or 12% of all budgetary expenditure compared with $3,208 million or 12% for 1974-75.

Interest on public debt totalled $3,908 million of which $2,885 million was in respect of unmatured debt and $1,023 million in respect of other liabilities. In 1974-75 total interest was $3,164 million of which $2,340 million was for unmatured debt and $824 million for other liabilities.

The increase of $545 million in interest on unmatured debt reflected an increase in unmatured debt which rose from $33,086 million at March 31, 1975 to $37,697 million at March 31, 1976 and an increase in interest rates. The average interest rate on the unmatured debt rose from 7.24% at March 31, 1975 to 7.84% at March 31, 1976. The increase in interest on other liabilities was due mainly to increases of $45 million in respect of the public service superannuation account and $41 million in respect of the Canadian forces superannuation account.

Other public debt charges at $46 million were $2 million more than in 1974-75.

Table 16 shows the liability as at March 31 and interest charges for the fiscal year ended March 31, for the years 1972 to 1976 inclusive, with respect to unmatured debt, deposit and trust accounts, annuity, insurance and pension accounts and refundable corporation tax:

[1] These amounts of amortized discount which were temporarily recorded in the "Unamortized Loan Flotation Costs" account were credited to that account and were charged to interest on public debt following the year of issue. The effect of these transactions are given at the end of this section.

[2] Table 13 summarizes the larger items. Further details are given at the end of this section.

When considering the magnitude of these public debt charges and the burden they place upon the public treasury, it must be borne in mind that a substantial portion of the debt is attributable to, or is invested in, productive or earning assets. Therefore, in calculating the net burden of the government's annual interest charges, the income derived from loans, investments and other productive assets must be taken into account. For 1975-76 this income totalled $2,097 million as shown in the non-tax revenue section under the heading "return on investments". This amount deducted from the gross total of $3,908 million for interest as shown in Table 14 leaves a net amount of $1,812 million compared with a net amount of $1,333 million in 1974-75. Measured as a percentage of the net debt the burden of the net annual interest charges was 7.78% in 1975-76 compared with 6.91% in 1974-75. As a percentage of the gross national product for the calendar year ending within the fiscal year, the relative burden was 1.12% compared with 0.92% in 1974-75.

Table 14 presents the gross interest charges, the return on investments, the net interest charges, the net debt and the net interest as a percentage of the net debt for the fiscal years ended March 31, 1972 to 1976 inclusive:

Expenditures of the Department of National Health and Welfare including those of the Medical Research Council totalled $8,935 million compared with $5,201 million in 1974-75, an increase of $3,734 million.

The main changes were increases of $423 million in respect of health care and $3,272 million in respect of income security and social assistance. Of the $3,272 million increase, $3,022 million reflects a change in the method of funding payments under the Old Age Security Act (old age security pension, guaranteed income supplement and spouse's allowance). As of June 26, 1975 the Old Age Security Fund ceased to exist and benefits were subsequently paid from the Consolidated Revenue Fund as shown in the comparative statement. The actual increase in payments under the Act was $489 million being the difference between 1974-75 payments of $3,445 million from the Old Age Security Fund and the 1975-76 payments of $3,934 million from the Old Age Security Fund to June 26, 1975 and the Consolidated Revenue Fund for the remainder of fiscal year 1975-76.

HEALTH CARE

Expenditures for health care amounted to $2,544 million in 1975-76 compared with $2,121 million in 1974-75. The main changes were increases of $402 million in contributions under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act and $33 million in contributions under the Medical Care Act.

Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act

The Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act authorizes the Minister with the approval of the Governor in Council to enter into an agreement with any province to provide for the payment by Canada of contributions towards the cost of eligible hospital and diagnostic services incurred by the province. Agreements were made with all the provinces and territories, but under a federal-provincial agreement the Province of Quebec subsequently opted out of the program in 1962-63.

Contributions to the provinces in 1975-76 under this Act were $1,709 million compared with $1,308 million in 1974-75.

INCOME SECURITY AND SOCIAL ASSISTANCE

Expenditures for income security and social assistance totalled $6,139 million in 1975-76, $3,272 million more than the total of $2,867 million in 1974-75, due mainly to a change in the method of funding payments under the Old Age Security Act.

Old Age Security Act payments

Payments for the old age security pension, guaranteed income supplement and spouse's allowance are made under the authority of the Old Age Security Act. In 1967, the Act was amended to include guaranteed income supplement benefits and in 1975 spouse's allowance. Initially, the Act established the Old Age Security Fund which was the repository of taxes collected for the financing of the benefits and payments were made to beneficiaries from that Fund. From time to time budgetary transfers were made to the Old Age Security Fund to meet shortfalls between receipts and payments. On June 26, 1975 the Old Age Security Fund was abolished and payment of benefits under the Act are now made from the Consolidated Revenue Fund. The following comparative statement includes payments from both the Old Age Security Fund and the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Family allowance payments

Family allowance payments, as defined in the Family Allowances Act 1973, are payable in respect of all children under 18 years of age who are dependant on their parents. They are paid only to residents of Canada or persons outside of Canada when that parent or child is temporarily absent or when a Canadian family is stationed abroad and subject to Canadian income tax. The former requirement of school attendance has been dropped. The allowance must be declared as income for tax purposes by the parent who claims the child as a tax exemption. The rate of allowances paid can be decided upon by the provinces within certain constraints. However, the provinces may vary the rate to be paid on the basis of the child's age or size of a family or any combination of both. The constraints are that the rate cannot be less than $13.25 per child and the average rate per month paid on behalf of all children within a province cannot exceed $22.08.

The number of families and number of children in receipt of family allowance payments in the month of March and the total payments in each of the fiscal years ended March 31, 1972 to 1976, inclusive, are shown in table 28:

Canada assistance plan

Payments to the provinces under the Canada assistance plan totalled $886 million compared with $661 million in 1974-75. The Canada Assistance Plan Act, which was enacted in 1966, authorized the federal government to enter into agreements with the provinces for sharing the costs of assistance provided by the provinces, territories sand municipalities to persons in need and welfare services provided to persons in need or likely to be in need, including the costs of food, shelter, clothing, fuel and utilities, essential household supplies, expenses incidental to a trade, care in a home for special care, travel and transportation, funerals and burials, health care services, prescribed welfare services including rehabilitation, and comfort allowances. The rate of the federal contribution is 50% of the shareable costs; the rates for assistance granted and the specific conditions of eligibility applied are determined by the provinces and their municipalities and take into account the budgetary requirements as well as the income and resources of the applicants. Contributions under this plan have replaced certain contributions which formerly had been made under the Old Age Assistance Act, the Disabled Persons Act, the Blind Persons Act and the Unemployment Assistance Act.

Under federal-provincial agreement, the Province of Quebec has opted out of a major portion of this program.

Post Office

Gross expenditures of the Post Office were $1,030 million compared with $864 million in 1974-75. Salaries and allowances were $782 million compared with $655 million in the previous year and transportation of mail costs were $119 million compared with $113 million in the previous year.

However, as authorized by the Post Office Act, remuneration of postmasters and staffs at revenue and semi-staff offices and certain other disbursements are paid from revenue. These payments amounted to $84 million ($80 million in 1974-75).

Also Post Office Vote 1, authorized that revenue arising from services thereunder be credited thereto. This revenue amounted to $32 million compared with $46 million in 1974-75. Consequently net expenditures were $913 million compared with $738 million in 1974-75.

As net post office receipts totalled $444 million as shown in the revenue section of this report and net expenditures totalled $913 million there was a net operating deficit of $469 million. In 1974-75 net receipts were $486 million and net expenditures were $738 million resulting in an operating deficit of $252 million.

Note to financial statement

Following is a reconciliation of the above statement with the "Summary of Expenditures by Standard Object and Department" to explain the amount of $84.4 million of expenditures from postal revenue authorized by the Post Office Act.

Non-budgetary transactions are those which increase or decrease the government's asset and liability accounts and do not enter into the calculation of the annual budgetary surplus or deficit. The discussion of non-budgetary transactions in this section excludes unmatured debt transactions which are described in Section 8, as well as changes in the cash position which are given in Section 9. The related balances on asset and liability accounts at the beginning and end of the fiscal year and the effect of non-budgetary transactions during the year are examined in Section 10.

Both assets and liabilities are influenced by non-budgetary transactions. The transactions described in this section which influence assets consists mainly of loans and advances to and repayments by Crown corporations and other government agencies, national, provincial and municipal bodies, international organizations and other borrowers. Those leading mainly to changes in liabilities relate to social security accounts, other annuity, insurance and pension accounts and deposit and trust accounts held or administered by the government. Certain non-budgetary transactions affect both assets and liabilities; of these, the most important are foreign exchange reserve transactions. The receipts and payments through the main categories of non-budgetary accounts, in 1974-75 and 1975-76 other than those for unmatured debt and cash, are summarized in Table 1.

The total of non-budgetary receipts in 1975-76 rose by 13% to $32,300 million. Non-budgetary payments increased at a rate of 14% to $33,040 million. As a result, the net amount required to finance non-budgetary transactions increased from $361 million in 1974-75 to $740 million in 1975-76. Table 1 shows that there was an increase of $538 million in the net funds required to finance the social security accounts, an increase of $1,174 million in net funds required for loans and an increase of $620 million in net funds required to finance additions to foreign exchange reserves.

Social Security Accounts

The three social security accounts included under this heading are those of Old Age Security, the Canada Pension Plan and Unemployment Insurance. Their receipts, payments, disposals of surplus receipts and financing of any excess of payments are shown in Table 2.

Total receipts of these social security schemes decreased by 22% from $7,691 million in 1974-75 to $5,980 million in 1975-76. In the same period, their payments fell by 15% from $7,656 million to $6,484 million. As a result, their combined surplus of receipts fell from $35 million in 1974-75 to a combined deficit of $504 million in 1975-76.

Of these three accounts, the Canada Pension Plan had a net amount available for investment. Its available funds of $1,507 million were used to acquire $1,431 million of provincial bonds, $10 million of bonds of the Government of Canada and to increase its deposit with the Receiver General by $66 million. The Unemployment Insurance Account had an excess of $67 million of disbursements over receipts. The receipts in the account include advances of $501 million. The Old Age Security Fund has been closed on June 26, 1975.

The Old Age Security Fund(1)

The Old Age Security Act governs the payments of old age pensions to all persons who meet the statutory residence requirements for the receipt of such pensions. This Act established the Old Age Security Fund which receives certain tax revenues and from which old age pensions and the guaranteed income supplement are paid.

Prior to January 1, 1972 the Old Age Security Fund was financed by special taxes which at that time were a 4% tax on personal incomes (subject to a maximum of $240 per taxpayer), a 3% tax on corporate incomes and a 3% sales tax.

(1) Under amendment to the Old Age Security Act, which came into effect at the end of June, 1975, the Old Age Security Fund ceased to exist, benefits paid were charged to budgetary expenditure and transfers of personal and corporation income taxes and sales taxes previously made to the Fund were discontinued. No adjustments were made to 1974-75 figures to reflect these changes for comparative purposes.

(1) These amounts represent only estimate of payments made to beneficiaries.

The Old Age Security Act was amended effective January 1, 1972 to provide for the repeal of these taxes and for the crediting to the fund of an amount estimated to be equal to what would have been credited to the fund had those taxes not been repealed.

Pension rates have also been increased by amendments to the Act over the years to the point where they were $120.06 per month in March 1975 and, as a result of subsequent amendments, are subject to quarterly adjustments in accordance with changes in the Consumer Price Index. The monthly amount of the basic pension in March 1976 was $132.90.

The guaranteed income supplement, first introduced in 1966-67, was payable at a rate of up to 40% of the basic pension depending upon the level of a pensioner's income in the preceding year. Subsequent amendments have led to the situation where, in March 1975, the maximum supplement for a single pensioner was $84.21 subject to quarterly escalation in line with changes in the Consumer Price Index ($74.79 each for married pensioners). The maximum supplement in March 1976 rose to $93.22 ($82.78 each for married pensioners).

On June 26, 1975, the Old Age Security Fund was abolished. Payments of benefits under the Old Age Security Act are now made out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund. During 1975-76, the pension payments from April 1 to June 26 amounted to $911 million and receipt to $910 million. For comparative purposes the statutory payments from appropriation were $3,023 million for a total of $3,934 million. In 1974-75 Old Age Security payments from the Old Age Security Fund were $3,444 million.

The provincial distribution of old age pension including guaranteed income supplement payments in 1974-75 and 1975-76 is shown in Table 3.

Canada Pension Plan

The Canada Pension Plan was established by an Act which was proclaimed in May 5, 1965. The Plan is financed by contributions of 1.8% of income on earnings of employees, with matching contributions by their employers, and by contributions of 3.6% of the income of self-employed persons, (subject to a maximum payment of $135.00); it also receives investment income. Contributions are payable by an employee who earns over $800 per year and by self-employed persons earning over $800 per year.

[1] Includes $709 million in 1975-76 and $838 million in 1974-75 for guaranteed income supplement and $35 million in 1975-76 for spouse's allowance payments which came into effect on October 1, 1975.

Contributions to the Plan rose by 20% to $1,489 million in 1975-76, as compared with $1,239 million in 1974-75. The investment income of the Plan rose, however, by 23% from $504 million in 1974-75 to $621 million in 1975-76. This proportionate rise in investment income was mainly a result of the increase investments.

The benefits payable under the Canada Pension Plan are retirement pensions, survivors' benefits payable to widows, disabled widowers, orphans or as a lump sum death benefit, and disability pensions. Retirement pensions were payable at their full rate January 1, 1976, i.e., ten years after the Plan first received contributions. Partly because of this change and partly because of increases in the number of pensioners, pensions and other benefits payable by the Plan increased from $399 million in 1974-75 to $588 million in 1975-76.

The pensions, other benefits and expenses of the Plan are, as yet, still small in relation to its receipts. As a result, the Plan had $1,329 million in 1974-75 and $1,507 million in 1975-76 available for investment. The greater part of these sums was invested in bonds issued by the provincial governments to the Canada Pension Plan Investment Fund because the legislation governing the Plan provides that funds not required for benefits and expenses in the following three-month period are to be made available as loans to provincial governments and shared by them in the same proportions as their residents contribute to the Plan. Any sums available to but not borrowed by the provinces are invested in bonds of Canada. The effects of these legal requirements were that $1,431 million of provincial bonds and $10 million of bonds of the Government of Canada were purchased for the Canada Pension Plan Investment Fund in 1975-76 as compared with $1,276 million and $9 million respectively in 1974-75. The remaining balances of $44 million in 1974-75 and $66 million in 1975-76 were placed on deposit with the Receiver General.

Unemployment Insurance

The Unemployment Insurance Act, 1955, as amended, provided for a compulsory contributory unemployment insurance program applying to everyone employed under a contract of service subject to certain exceptions. The main exceptions were members of the Armed Forces and of the federal, provincial and local government services and persons earning over $7,800 per annum.

The Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971, which was assented to June 23, 1971, replaced the former Act. Under the new Act, those main exceptions noted above have been removed and all employment in Canada (with minor exceptions) is ensurable effective from January 2, 1972.

The new Act also authorized the establishment in the accounts of Canada of an account to be known as the Unemployment Insurance Account and that the balance of the amount standing to the credit of the Unemployment Insurance Fund under the former Act on June 27, 1971, together with interest accrued thereon to that day, be credited thereto.

The Act also provides that all amounts received under the Act as or on account of premiums, fines, penalties, interest and repayment of overpayments of benefits, and all amounts collected by the Commission for services rendered to other government departments or agencies or the public, shall be paid into the Consolidated Revenue Fund and shall be credited to the Unemployment Insurance Account; that any other amounts provided out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund for any purpose related to unemployment insurance that is authorized by an appropriation by Parliament and the administration of which falls to the Commission shall be credited to the Unemployment Insurance Account; that the Minister of Finance may authorize, in accordance with such terms and conditions and at such rates as he may prescribe, the payment of interest on the balance in the Unemployment Insurance Account, and such interest shall be credited to the account; and that there shall be charged to the account all amounts paid as or on account of benefits under this Act and the costs of administration of the Act.

Receipts in 1975-76 with comparable amounts for 1974-75 shown in brackets totalled $3,442 million ($2,520 million) and included contributions of $2,939 million ($2,519 million) and other income of $1 million ($1 million).

Disbursements in 1975-76 totalled $3,509 million of which $178 million were administrative costs. In 1974-75 disbursements were $2,560 million and administrative costs were $140 million.

Maximum weekly contributions were $2.59 and $3.30 respectively in 1975 and 1976 depending upon the contributor's income. For the same periods, maximum weekly benefits were $123.33 and $133.00 depending upon the level of average weekly contributions and the circumstances of the recipient.

To finance the 1975-76 operations in the account, temporary advances of $501 million were made by the government.

Other Annuity, Insurance and Pension Accounts

Table 4 summarizes the transactions of the superannuation accounts for the Public Service, Canadian Forces and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the government annuities account and a number of smaller insurance and pensions accounts. This table shows that the transactions of the three major superannuation accounts were the greater part of all transactions in this group. The receipts of all annuity, insurance and pension accounts rose by $36 million in 1975-76 to $2,256 million while their payments rose by $71 million to $521 million. As a result, their net receipts decreased by 2% from $1,770 million in 1974-75 to $1,735 million in 1975-76.

Government Annuities Account

Receipts of interest and premiums by the government annuities account were $84 million and $4 million respectively in 1975-76 as compared with corresponding figures of $49 million and $5 million in 1975-76. Its disbursements in 1974-75 of $74 million and in 1975-76 of $98 million were almost entirely matured annuity, commuted value, death benefit, premium refunds and premium withdrawal payments.

Other Insurance and Pension Accounts

There are a number of other insurance and pension accounts operated by the Government of Canada. Transactions on behalf of the public service death benefit account, the regular forces death benefit account and the veterans insurance fund account for the greater part of all transactions by these accounts.

The total receipts of these accounts were $84 million in 1974-75 and $108 million in 1975-76 while their payments increased from $31 million to $33 million in the same period.

Loans to and investments in Crown corporations

In 1975-76, the total of loans and investments to Crown corporations increased by $2,934 million, or 85%, over the previous year. Advances rose from $2,239 million in 1974-75 to $3,438 million in 1975-76. The principal borrower continued to be Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation which received $1,320 million, or 37% of the total. Six other Crown corporations—Air Canada, Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, Canadian National Railways, Export Development Corporation, Farm Credit Corporation and the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority together received $1,323 million, or 37% of the total. Loans to and investments in all other Crown corporations were only $795 millions or 26% of all such loans and investments. This pattern of lending and investments in 1975-76 was very similar to that in 1974-1975 when the same seven corporations received 88% of all loans to and investments in Crown corporations. The amounts lent to or invested in individual corporations are shown in Table 8.

Repayments of such loans and investments decreased from $656 million in 1974-1975 to $505 million in 1975-76.

Additional information on loans to and investments in the seven Crown corporations which accounted for most of the borrowing by these bodies is given in Table 9.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation

The objectives of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation are "to promote the construction of new houses, the repair and modernization of existing houses, and the improvement of housing and living conditions in Canada". To fulfil these objectives, the Corporation borrows large sums of money from the Government of Canada and relends these sums to other borrowers engaged in a variety of housing activities.

The greater part of the Corporation's borrowing is to obtain funds for direct lending for home-ownership and rental housing, including loans to limited dividend companies to finance low-rental housing projects and loans for public housing projects. Its borrowing for the purposes is authorized by the National Housing Act, 1954, as amended. In 1975-76, the government lent the Corporation $592 million for these purposes, an increase of 20% as compared with the corresponding figures of $496 million in 1974-75. Since its repayments of such loans decreased by 16% to $214 million from $255 million in the same period, net borrowing by the Corporation to finance direct lending, limited dividend and public housing increased by 57% in 1975-76 to $378 million.

The Corporation also borrowed in 1975-76 to finance municipal sewage treatment projects, university housing, federal-provincial housing projects and urban renewal. In 1975-76, its borrowing for these purposes was $728 million as compared with $526 million in 1974-75. After deducting repayments made by the Corporation, its net borrowing to finance such projects rose from $494 million in 1974-75 to $681 million in 1975-76.

The total of outstanding loans to and investments in Crown corporations at March 31, 1975 and March 31, 1976 is discussed in the Section "Asset and Liability Accounts".

Atomic Energy of Canada Limited

Atomic Energy of Canada Limited borrows to finance nuclear power stations and electricity transmission lines. In 1975-76, it borrowed $31 million to finance the Glace Bay Heavy Water Plant rehabilitation, $15 million for Heavy Water inventory and $3 million to finance the Nelson River transmission line project. Its total borrowing of $281 million in 1975-76 was $159 million more than its borrowing of $122 million in 1974-75.

Air Canada

In 1975-76, Air Canada received no loans under the Canadian National Railways Financing and Guarantee Acts to finance its capital expenditures for the acquisition of aircraft, engines, spare parts, other equipment and buildings. In addition, Air Canada obtains interim financing to cover its seasonal and other deficits; such interim financing is repaid from seasonal profits but, since such advances and repayments are related to a calendar year, they are not necessarily equal in any fiscal year.

Canadian National Railways

Under the Refunding Act, 1955, the Canadian National Railways may borrow from the government to finance its refunding of maturing debts; and under the Financing and Guarantee Acts it may borrow from the government to finance capital expenditures.

Under the terms of Section 6 (1) of the CNR Capital Revision Act, 1952, as extended to the annual Financing and Guarantee Acts, the government may invest in the 4% preferred stock of the company. During 1975-76 the government invested $66 million in such stock.

The CNR also obtains interim financing to cover its operating deficits.

Export Development Corporation

The Export Development Corporation borrows from the Minister of Finance in terms of the Export Development Act. In 1975-76 its gross borrowing of $426 million was an increase of $212 million over 1974-75. After deducting repayments made by the Corporation, its net borrowing in 1975-76 was $357 million, or $264 million more than its net borrowing of $93 million in 1974-75.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority

No loans to the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority were made in 1975-76. Deferred interest, net of payments made by the Authority, rose from $14 million in 1974-75 to $31 million in 1975-76.

Farm Credit Corporation

The Farm Credit Corporation borrows in order to make loans to farmers and extend credit to farm machinery syndicates. In 1975-76 it borrowed $369 million for these purposes an increase of $65 million from its corresponding borrowings in 1974-75. Its repayments increased by $10 million over 1974-75.

Other Crown Corporations

Loans to and investments in other Crown corporations were relatively small in 1975-76. Their total before repayment was $796 million, of which the major items were $224 million to the Canadian Dairy Commission, loans and investments of $197 million in Federal Business Development Bank, investments of $238 million in Petro-Canada.

Repayments of loans by other Crown corporations in 1975-76 were $84 million. The largest repayments were $56 million by the Canadian Dairy Commission and $14 million by the Freshwater Fish Marketing Corporation.

Other Domestic Loans and Investments

Sums advanced in the form of loans and investments to governments, individuals, businesses and other bodies in Canada are shown in Table 10. The total of such loans rose by 77% from $2,164 million in 1974-75 to $3,834 million in 1975-76.

Loans to Provinces

Loans to provinces increased by $14 million to $271 million in 1975-76. The largest items were loans of $26 million to Saskatchewan and $86 million to Quebec for loans for special areas assistance. Miscellaneous loans of $114 million were made to finance winter capital projects. In 1974-75, such loans amounted to $95 million. Repayments increased in 1975-76 to $134 million.

Loans to Territories

Loans to the Northwest and Yukon Territories decreased from $50 million in 1974-75 to $6 million in 1975-76. These loans are used by the Territorial Governments to finance capital expenditures and provide mortgage loans for housing.

Veterans' Land Act Fund

The Veterans' Land Act Fund records advances made under the Veterans' Land Act, for the acquisition, by the Director, of properties, buildings, materials, livestock, farm equipment and commercial fishing equipment for purposes of the Act, for sale to qualified veterans of world war 2 and Korea under sales agreements which carry specified conditional benefits if the terms of such agreements are adhered to by the veterans, and for progress payments to veterans during construction of housing. During 1975-76 advances amounted to $34 million and repayments were $52 million, resulting in a balance of $541 million at March 31, 1976. In 1974-75 comparable amounts were advances of $68 million and repayments of $54 million bringing the balance to $559 million at March 31, 1975.

Partly offsetting these advances is the reserve for conditional benefits under the Act which consists of amounts charged to budgetary expenditure, beginning with the fiscal year 1945-46, to cover $\frac{1}{10}$ of the amount of conditional benefits included in sales to veterans and credited to this account. As and when conditional benefits are earned the amounts are charged to the reserve and credited to the advances. During the year $4 million was charged to the reserve account and additional reserves of $5 million were credited thereto, resulting in a balance of $33 million in the reserve account at March 31, 1976. During 1974-75 charges were $4 million and credits were $5 million resulting in a balance of $32 million at March 31, 1975.

Municipal Development and Loan Board Advances

Under the Municipal Development and Loan Act, advances were made to the Municipal Development and Loan Board to enable it to lend to municipalities for the augmentation or acceleration of municipal capital work programs. These advances are now being repaid. Repayments in 1975-76 were $11 million.

Departmental Working Capital Advances

In 1975-76 total advances were $3,401 million and total repayments were $3,314 million.

The largest items were loans of $124 million to finance the construction of international airports to serve Montreal and Toronto, $221 million for the Airports Revolving Fund, $301 million advanced to the Agricultural Commodities Stabilization Board, $197 million in advances to provide for the new olympic coins, and $265 million in advances to the Supply Revolving Fund.

Repayment of such loans amounted to $1,297 million.

External Loans and Investments

External loans and investments consist of loans to national governments, subscriptions to the capital of international organizations (other than subscriptions treated as part of the foreign exchange reserves of Canada) and loans and advances to international bodies. In 1975-76 the total of such loans and investments was $426 million as compared with $372 million in 1974-75.

The greater part of all sums advanced abroad consists of special loan assistance to developing countries. In 1975-76, such loan assistance amounted to $267 million, an increase of $37 million over the 1974-75 total of $230 million. In 1975-76 India received $32 million. In 1974-75 India received $55 million of the total.

Subscriptions to the capital of the International Development Association were $76 million in 1974-75 and $73 million in 1975-76. Other sums lent to or invested in international organizations amounted to $4 million in 1975-76.

The remaining transactions with governments abroad were repayments of $22 million by the United Kingdom in terms of the United Kingdom Financial Agreement Act and of $15 million of loans made to Belgium, France and the Netherlands under the Export Credits Insurance Act.

Foreign Exchange Reserve Transactions

Foreign exchange reserve transactions, shown in Table 12, consist of advances to the Exchange Fund to enable it to acquire gold, securities or foreign currency, repayments of such advances by the Exchange Fund and transactions with the International Monetary Fund including subscriptions to its capital, the receipt and disposal of Special Drawing Rights (SDRs) and the issue and redemption of non-interest-bearing notes. All these transactions are undertaken in order either to finance increases in the official international reserves of Canada or to convert these reserves into Canadian dollars. While the Receiver General's deposits in foreign currency are included in Canada's official international reserves, the transactions influencing these deposits are excluded because they are mainly payments abroad for goods, services, pensions, interest and similar items and not transactions which involve conversion between Canadian dollar assets and those foreign currency assets included in Canada's official international reserves.[1]

In 1975-76, advances to the Exchange Fund were $6,291 million, repayments were $6,330 million, leaving a net decrease in advances of $39 million during the year. Transactions with the International Monetary Fund included a revaluation adjustment of $89 million to the Fund due to a depreciation of the Canadian dollar; capital subscriptions are set in S.D.R. units of account so that, when the Canadian dollar depreciates, additional Canadian dollars must be supplied to the Fund and when the Canadian dollar appreciates the converse applies. Transactions in non-interest-bearing notes resulted in a net decrease of $73 million. These transactions were due mainly to other countries' dealings in Canadian dollars with the Fund.

[1]The Bank of Canada's holdings of convertible foreign currencies are also included in Canada's official international reserves but are excluded from this section because they are financed by the Bank and are therefore not included in the accounts of the Government of Canada.

There was no allocation of Special Drawing Rights by the International Monetary Fund to Canada during the fiscal year leaving the recorded value of SDRs in the government's books at $370 million at March 31, 1976. These SDRs were, in turn, advanced to the Exchange Fund.

The transactions just described are those through which the Government of Canada financed additions to Canada's official international reserves, other than the Receiver General's working balances in foreign currency, in 1975-76. The change in the Receiver General's foreign currency deposits was relatively small when compared with the transactions just described. Subject to this exception, the net effect of these transactions was to decrease advances of the Government of Canada by $23 million in 1975-76 as compared with a net decrease of $643 million in 1974-75.

Other Non-Budgetary Transactions

The major accounts in which other non-budgetary transactions are recorded are those for provincial tax collection agreements, outstanding cheques, accounts payable, interest accrued, interest due and outstanding, and deferred charges on superannuation accounts.

The provincial tax collection agreements account records transactions arising from federal-provincial tax collection agreements. During the fiscal year 1975-76, the Government of Canada collected $4,105 million of provincial income taxes on behalf of provincial governments of which $3,242 million were personal income tax and $863 million were corporation income tax. In the same period, payments to the provinces of $4,039 million were $66 million less than receipts. Overpayments of $14 million classified as Loans to provinces were collected during the year leaving a balance of $2 million in the account. These receipts and payments were substantially higher than in 1974-75 when $3,420 million of income taxes were collected on behalf of provincial governments and $3,616 million were paid to them.

Outstanding cheques are canadian cheques issued on or before March 31 of each fiscal year and still outstanding at that date. Transactions in 1975-76, resulted in an increase of $358 million bringing the balance outstanding at the end of the year to $1,595 million.

The balances outstanding in the accounts shown in this table at March 31, 1975 and March 31, 1976 are discussed in the Section "Asset and Liability Accounts".

Accounts payable are cheques issued in April in respect of transactions undertaken during the previous fiscal year ended on March 31. In April 1976 these amounted to $984 million compared with $1,049 million in April 1975.

Interest accrued but not paid at March 31, 1976 amounted to $888 million, a net increase of $130 million over the balance at March 31, 1975. Interest due and outstanding was $1,738 million at March 31, 1976, a net increase of $330 million.

Actuarial deficiencies in the superannuation accounts revealed by quinquennial valuations and the cost of benefits as a result of salary increases are set up as deferred charges and amortized to budgetary expenditure over a period of five years In 1975-76, a total of $965 million was added to deferred charges and $743 million was amortized to budgetary expenditure.

The remaining non-budgetary transactions include those recorded in account for cash other than in Receiver General accounts, accounts for securities held in trust, deferred charge accounts not described above, deposit and trust accounts, deferred credit accounts and certain other accounts. The receipts of and payments from these accounts are shown in Table 13.

FINANCING OPERATIONS OF THE GOVERNMENT

In 1975-76, the Government of Canada issued $25,694 million of new bonds and treasury bills and retired $21,084 million of securities. In addition, it held a net amount of $1 million of its own securities. These operations provided a net amount of $4,609 million to finance the other operations of the government and to increase its cash balances, as compared with a net amount of $3,902 million in 1974-75.

As is shown in Table 1, there were net sales of $1,133 million in marketable bonds, $865 million in treasury bills, and $10 million in other non-marketable bonds.

With respect to Canada savings bonds there were issues of $3,719 million and retirements of $1,117 million resulting in an increase of $2,602 million.

Marketable bonds

As is shown in Table 2, six times during the fiscal year the government issued bonds payable in Canadian dollars. On five of these occasions, the proceeds were used either in whole or in part to redeem maturing debt. The table also shows that there was a definite increase in interest rates on the new issues with the exception of the December 15, 1975, and of February 1, 1976 issues.

For bonds payable in currencies other than Canadian dollars, all operations during the fiscal year were retirements.

Treasury bills

As is shown in Table 3, total treasury bills issued during the fiscal year were $19,015 million and total redemptions were $18,150 million resulting in a net amount of $865 million in new borrowing.

Three month bills which are issued weekly had a net increase of $540 million and the last issue was of $300 million at an interest rate of 9.09%. The weekly of six month bills had a net increase of $175 million with a last issue of $70 million at an interest rate of 9.21%. The other bills, which are issued periodically, are usually for periods of one year or less, had a net increase of $150 million with a last issue of $225 million at an interest rate of 8.65%.

Interest rates on three-month bills rose from 6.41% on April 4, 1975 to 9.10% on March 19, 1976, on six-month bills from 6.58% on April 4, 1975, to 9.21% on March 19, 1976 and on other bills from 7.45% on May 9, 1975 to 8.87% on November 21, 1975.

Non-marketable bonds

The issues in non-marketable bonds were $3,719 million for Canada savings bonds, $10 million for other non-marketable bonds and retirements of $1,117 million for Canada savings bonds, resulting in a net receipt of new money of $2,612 million.

Canada savings bonds which are non-callable but redeemable on demand at any time with accrued interest had a net increase of $2,602 million during the year bringing the balance outstanding at March 31, 1976 to $15,517 million. Gross sales of series 30 were $3,717 million and additional sales of series 29 were $2 million. Redemptions prior to maturity of series 17 to 30 totalled $1,117 million. In 1974-75 sales were $6,174 million and redemptions were $3,665 million resulting in a net increase of $2,509 million.

Canada pension plan bonds purchased by the federal government during the year were $10 million. There were no redemptions.

The Public Debt

The public debt of Canada consists of those liabilities which appear on the government's statement of assets and liabilities. In addition the government has certain indirect or contingent obligations such as the guarantee of securities of the Canadian National Railways, insured loans made by approved lending institutions under the National Housing Act and deposits maintained by the chartered banks in the Bank of Canada.

At March 31, 1976, the government's liabilities as recorded on the statement of assets and liabilities totalled $71,751 million and net recorded assets totalled $48,455 million resulting in a net debt of $23,296 million.

The following table shows the gross public debt, the unmatured debt, net recorded assets and the net debt at March 31 for each of the fiscal years 1951-52 to 1975-76 inclusive.

Unmatured debt in the amount of $37,697 million was 52% and annuity, insurance and pension accounts in the amount of $25,570 million were 36% of total liabilities. At March 31, 1975 unmatured debt was $33,086 million or 53% and annuity, insurance and pension accounts were $22,329 million or 36% of total liabilities.

Net recorded assets

At March 31, 1976 the government's net recorded assets totalled $48,455 million, $5,029 million higher than they were at March 31, 1975. The main changes were increases of $2,935 million in loans to Crown corporations, $1,442 million in the Canada Pension Plan investment fund, $102 million in other loans and investments, $502 million in advances to the Unemployment Insurance account, and decreases of $39 million in Exchange Fund account and $817 million in current assets.

The net debt at March 31, 1976 was $23,296 million compared with $19,274 million at March 31, 1975. The increase was the result of the budgetary deficit of $4,022 million.

The net debt in per capita terms and as a percentage of the gross national product is shown in the following table. The

The following table sets out the unmatured debt at March 31, for each of the fiscal years 1971-72 to 1975-76 inclusive, with the average rate of interest thereon. For purposes of comparison the unmatured debt is classified as to marketable bonds, non-marketable bonds (which includes Canada savings bonds) and treasury bills.

The average rate on marketable bonds was 6.64% at March 31, 1976 compared with 6.27% at March 31, 1975 and for treasury bills it was 8.69% compared with 6.78%.

Interest rates on new issues of marketable bonds varied from a low of 6.25% to a high of 10% during the year.

Indirect debt or contingent liabilities

In addition to the direct debt set out in the statement of assets and liabilities, the government has assumed certain indirect or contingent obligations. These consist of securities of the Canadian National Railways, guaranteed as to principal and interest, and a number of miscellaneous guarantees, the chief of which are the guarantee of insured loans made by chartered banks and other approved lending institutions under the National Housing Act, 1954, bank advances to the Canadian Wheat Board, advances under the Export Development Act, loans made by chartered banks and credit unions under the Canada Student Loans Act and bank loans under the Farm Improvement Loans Act.

As the following table shows, these contingent liabilities increased by $1,493 million during the year. Loans in respect of the National Housing Act, 1954 were $13,864 million at December 31, 1975 compared with $11,915 million at December 31, 1974 and bank loans to the Canadian Wheat Board were $878 million at March 31, 1976 compared with $1,056 million at March 31, 1975.

THE CASH POSITION OF THE GOVERNMENT

The government's cash account represents balances of current and special deposits to the credit of the Receiver General for Canada in the Bank of Canada, chartered banks in Canada and certain banks in London, New York, Brussels, Bonn, Frankfurt and Rome.

The cash position of the government is affected not only by budgetary transactions but also by changes in the government's unmatured debt and other non-budgetary transactions. Non-budgetary transactions are those which affect the government's asset and liability accounts and must be taken into account when considering the full scope of the government's financial operations.

On the asset side, the non-budgetary transactions consist, for the most part, of loans and advances to, and repayment by Crown corporations, and other government agencies and funds, national, provincial and municipal governments, international organizations and other borrowers.

On the liability side, they relate mainly to receipts and payments in connection with the many deposit and trust accounts, and annuity, insurance and pension funds held or administered by the government.

During 1975-76 total cash receipts arising from all government transactions totalled $74,826 million and total cash disbursements were $74,979 million, bringing the total balances in Receiver General bank accounts to $3,052 million at March 31, 1976. Of this balance $3,037 million was on deposit in Canada and $15 million in foreign countries.

Non-budgetary disbursements and charges (excluding unmatured debt transactions) totalled $33,040 million in 1975-76 and included $6,484 million for social security accounts, $521 million for other annuity, insurance and pension accounts, $6,380 million for foreign exchange reserves, $7,698 million for loans and investments, $4,054 million under provincial tax collection agreements and $7,903 million for sundry other accounts.

Non-budgetary receipts and credits (excluding unmatured debt transactions) totalled $32,300 million of which $5,980 million was for social security accounts, $2,256 million for other annuity, insurance and pension accounts, $6,403 million for foreign exchange reserves, $4,114 million for loans and investments, $4,105 million for the provincial tax collection agreements account and $9,442 million for sundry other accounts.

Details of these non-budgetary transactions are given in Section 7 of this volume.

As is shown in Table 1, operations in unmatured debt furnished a net amount of $4,609 million of which $4,762 million was used for cash requirements. The remainder, $153 million, decreased the government's available cash to $3,052 million at March 31, 1976.

(1) Amends reporting in the previous year's Public Accounts.

Table 2 shows the Government of Canada Canadian cash monthly balances for the latest five fiscal years and Table 3 shows the foreign cash balances (converted to Canadian dollar value) for the same period.

During 1975-76 Canadian cash balances rose from a low of $1,289 million at September 30, 1975 to a high of $4,186 million at November 30, 1975.

Foreign balances rose from a low of $6 million at November 30, 1975 to a high of $15 million at March 31, 1976.

The implication of the level of government cash balances at any given time can be misinterpreted because of their wide fluctuations throughout the year, as is illustrated in the following table. Furthermore, because many cheques are issued at the end of a month and are not redeemed until the first few days of the following month whereas the largest percentage of receipts are not received until later, cash balances may drop in the early days of each month by as much as $125 to $300 million.

ASSET AND LIABILITY ACCOUNTS

The statement of the assets and liabilities of Canada, as certified by the Auditor General, is presented in Section 2 of this volume on a comparative basis, showing the balance of each of the principal classifications of accounts at March 31, 1976, the corresponding balance at March 31, 1975, and the increase or decrease during the fiscal year 1975-76. It is followed by explanatory notes. The detailed schedules of these accounts with their supporting notes are presented on a comparative basis in this section. A description of the structure and more significant features of the statement of assets and liabilities is given in Section 1 of this volume.

Summary

The gross liabilities of the government totalled $71,751 million at March 31, 1976, an increase of $9,051 million over the total of $62,700 million at March 31, 1975. The main changes were increases of $4,610 million in the unmatured debt and $3,241 million in annuity, insurance and pension accounts.

The net recorded assets totalled $48,454 million at March 31, 1976, an increase of $5,029 million over the total of $43,425 million at March 31, 1975. The main changes were increases of $3,497 million in the advances, loans and investments, $1,442 million in the Canada pension plan investment fund and $502 million in advance to the Unemployment Insurance Commission and a decrease in the current assets accounts during the same period of $817 million.

The net debt of Canada, or the excess of liabilities over net recorded assets, was $23,297 million at March 31, 1976 compared with $19,275 million at March 31, 1975. The increase of $4,022 million reflected the budgetary deficit for the fiscal year 1975-76.

A condensed statement of the assets and liabilities of the Government of Canada as at March 31, 1976, with comparative figures as at March 31, 1975, and the net increase or decrease during the fiscal year 1975-76, is presented in the following table. Also included in this section are supplementary tables showing the major accounts within each category. Further details may be found in Section 7 "Non-budgetary transactions" and Section 8 "Financing operations of the government, and the public debt" and the schedules of the Statement of Assets and Liabilities in this section.

Current Assets

Cash accounts

The total of all cash account balances was $3,722 million at March 31, 1976 compared with $4,540 million at March 31, 1975. The decrease of $818 million reflects lower balances in Receiver General current deposit accounts which totalled $3,047 million compared with $3,200 million in March 31, 1975 and a decrease in cash in hands of collectors and in transit from $1,028 million on March 31, 1975 to $561 million at March 31, 1976. A more detailed explanation of the cash transactions is given in Section 9 of this volume.

Cash in hands of collectors and in transit represents moneys received by public officers on or before March 31 but not deposited to the credit of the Receiver General until after that date.

Moneys received after March 31, but applicable to the fiscal year 1975-76, totalled $75 million compared with $275 million at March 31, 1975.

Post Office receipts in hands of postmasters and in transit totalled $32 million, $1 million more than at March 31, 1975.

Securities investment account

Section 12 of the Financial Administration Act authorizes the Minister of Finance when he deems it advisable for the sound and efficient management of public money or the public debt to purchase, acquire and hold securities of, or guaranteed by, the government and to sell any such securities purchased or acquired.

Provincial tax collection agreements account

The federal government has entered into tax-collection agreements under which it collects the provincial personal income taxes of all provinces except Quebec and the provincial corporation income taxes of all provinces except Quebec and Ontario. The federal government offered to collect the provincial income taxes without charge provided that provincial personal income tax was expressed as a percentage of federal personal income tax otherwise payable and provincial corporation income tax applied to taxable income calculated in the same ways as for federal income tax purposes. To allow for imposition of the provincial income taxes, the Income Tax Act was amended to abate the federal income tax otherwise payable by individuals in all provinces. The abatement in 1967, 1968, 1969, 1970, 1971, 1972, 1973, 1974 and 1975 was 28% for taxpayers in all provinces except Quebec and 50% for taxpayers in the Province of Quebec. The higher abatement for Quebec takes account of the fact that the payment of youth allowances and the full cost of certain programs, which are supported jointly by federal and provincial governments in the other provinces, have been assumed by Quebec. The federal corporation income tax rates were abated by 10 percentage points for taxable income earned in all provinces in 1967, 1968, 1969, 1970, 1971, 1972, 1973, 1974 and 1975. The federal government has entered into tax-collection agreements under which it collects the provincial personal income taxes of all provinces except Quebec and the provincial corporation income taxes of all provinces except Ontario and Quebec. Under these agreements, payments are made monthly to each province based on an estimate of that province's tax revenue. The actual amounts due based on assessed returns are established as at December 31 following the end of the fiscal year and adjustments are made with the provinces.

During 1975-76 collections totalled $4,105 million and payments to provinces totalled $4,054 million resulting in a credit balance of $51 million at March 31, 1976. In 1974-75 collections were $3,420 million, payments were $3,616 million resulting in a debit balance of $16 million at March 31, 1975. This debit balance represents overpayments to provinces and was reclassified as such in Loans to provinces. In 1975-76, an amount of $14 million was collected from the provinces.

Payments were effective from January 1952.

The guaranteed income supplement, first introduced in 1966-67, was payable at a rate of up to 40% of the basic pension depending upon the level of a pensioner's income in the previous year. Subsequent amendments have led to the situation where, in March 1975, the maximum supplement for a single pensioner was $84.21 subject to quarterly escalation in line with changes in the Consumer Price Index ($74.79 each for married pensioners). The maximum supplement in March 1976 rose to $93.22 ($82.78 each for married pensioners).

Unamortized premium on loans

This account records premiums received on the sale of $50 million Government of Canada bonds issued on February 1, 1967 and maturing on September 1, 1992 which were sold at $100.75.

The premiums are being credited to the budgetary expenditure account "interest on public debt" on a monthly amortization basis. The account has increased to $8 million as at March 31, 1976. This net increase is partly due to premiums on new issues.

Other Liabilities

Included herein are accounts where some uncertainty as to disposition exists and other accounts where the final accounting treatment is dependent on the fulfilment of certain conditions.

Explanatory Notes to the Schedules to Statement of Asset and Liability Accounts

SCHEDULE A

Cash

A-1 Cash in Receiver General current deposits represents the total of the balances at credit of the Receiver General in banks in Canada and other countries in Belgian francs, Canadian dollars, French francs, United Kingdom sterling, United States dollars and West German marks.

A-2 This special deposit represents the balance of cash on deposit with the Banco di Roma, Rome, Italy from transactions under the Civilian Relief Agreement of 1950 and the Cultural Agreement of 1954 between Canada and Italy in respect of the Canadian Cultural Institute, Rome, Italy.

A-3 These special deposits consist of balances in the hands of fiscal agents of the government for the purchase or redemption of government securities and for the payment of interest.

A-4 This is a non-interest-bearing special deposit in connection with the financing of certain foreign service offices through letters of credit.

A-5 These special deposits represent balances at the credit of the Receiver General in banks in Canada for purposes of the unemployment insurance account.

A-6 This account is to record moneys received by public officers prior to the close of business on March 31 of any fiscal year but not recorded in current cash accounts until after that date.

A-7 This account records moneys which are held in trust for Indians in authorized banks across Canada by Indian agencies. The accounts include such items as savings, pensions, deposits on leases, community enterprise funds and community projects of various kinds.

During the year receipts amounted to $16,916,666 and disbursements totalled $17,135,665.

See also under the schedule "deposit and trust accounts" further on in this section.

A-8 This account consists of temporary deposits in chartered bank accounts as at March 31, 1976, as security for the temporary entry of goods, or to otherwise ensure compliance with various departmental regulations.

SCHEDULE B-1

Securities held for the Securities Investment Account at Amortized Cost

B-1-1 The account shows the temporary holdings by the Government of Canada at amortized cost of securities (including Canada Savings Bonds at par for resale to subscribers under the Government employees instalment purchase plan), which the Minister of Finance deemed advisable to purchase from time to time for the sound and efficient management of the public debt.

SCHEDULE B-2

Other Current Assets

B-2-1 Collections received after March 31, and generally up to May 31st, which are applicable to the fiscal year ending on that date are recorded in this account.

This account intends to accommodate refunds of old year expenditure received prior to the closing of the accounts, and receipts to be credited to asset, liability and (in exceptional cases) revenue accounts where the omission of the credits in the old year would tend to make the accounting incomplete or inconsistent.

B-2-2 This represents the cash in hands of postmasters and in transit at the close of business on March 31, 1976.

SCHEDULE C

be paid in cash or in non-interest-bearing, non-negotiable demand notes was authorized under Vote L45b, Appropriation Act No. 2, 1973.

On August 22, 1966, Canada deposited its instrument of ratification, thereby subscribing for 1,250 paid-in shares and an equal number of callable shares in accordance with Treaty Series 1966, No. 24 concerning the finance agreement establishing the Asian Development Bank.

As at March 31, 1976, Canada's instalment payments amounted to $24,973,918 U.S. = $24,845,944 Can. for 2,000 paid-in shares. During the year ended March 31, 1976, Canada made its final instalment relating to Vote L45b in the amount of $1,206,350 U.S. = $1,206,700 Can. in cash and $1,809,525 U.S. = $1,810,050 Can. in non-interest-bearing, non-negotiable demand notes for 250 paid-in shares.

An amount of $925,153 U.S. = $898,381 Can. in cash and $418,736 U.S. = $406,618 Can. in notes was credited to the account representing a maintenance of value adjustment.

Instalment payments relating to Vote L23b were made 50% in convertible currency and 50% in non-interest-bearing non-negotiable demand notes. The ratio for Vote L45b however, is now 40% in convertible currency and 60% in non-interest-bearing non-negotiable demand notes. The notes are carried as a liability of the Government of Canada under the heading "current liabilities", whereas payment of the amount subscribed to the callable capital stock of the bank is subject to call only as and when required by the bank to meet its obligations.

F-9 Vote L36a, Appropriation Act No. 4, 1969 authorized the purchase of 2,000 shares of stock of the Caribbean Development Bank in 1969-70 and subsequent fiscal years, being Canada's subscription as a member thereof, for the amount of $10,000,000 U.S., ($10,760,000 Can.) including authority for the issue in the current and subsequent fiscal years to the bank, on behalf of the Government of Canada, as payment for the shares so purchased, pending cash requirements by the Bank, of non-interest-bearing, non-negotiable demand notes in such form as may be determined by the Minister of Finance.

A further purchase of 3,477 callable shares of stock, being Canada's additional subscription as a member thereof, for the amount of $17,385,000 U.S. of the weight and fineness in effect September 1, 1969, including authority for the issue in the current and subsequent fiscal years to the Bank, on behalf of the Government of Canada, as payment for the shares so purchased, pending cash requirements of the Bank, of non-interest-bearing, non-negotiable demand notes in such form as may be determined by the Minister of Finance, notwithstanding that the payment may exceed the equivalent in Canadian dollars, estimated as of October 1, 1974, which is $20,653,590. This was authorized under Vote L36b, Appropriation Act No. 4, 1974.

As at March 31, 1976, Canada's instalment payments amounted to $6,031,740 U.S. = $5,984,210 Can. for 1,000 paid-in shares. To maintain a constant value of all the Bank's Canadian dollar holdings derived from Canada's subscription, the first, second, third, fourth and fifth instalments had to be calculated on the same rate of exchange. The first, second, third, fourth and fifth instalments were therefore revalued and the sixth subscription represented the balance due by Canada to the Caribbean Development Bank. Total subscriptions to date amount to $6,021,740 U.S. equivalent to $5,984,210 Canadian, of which $2,412,696 U.S. = $2,393,877 Can. is in non-interest-bearing notes payable on demand. These notes are carried as a liability of the Government of Canada under the heading "current liabilities". These payments are equal to 50% of the amounts due in respect of paid-up shares of Vote L36a as required by the agreement establishing the bank. The callable shares of Vote L36a and Vote L36b are subject to call by the bank under certain circumstances.

Tariff item 42700–1 provides that in the case of the importation into Canada of any goods enumerated in the item, the Governor in Council, on the recommendation of the Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce, may, whenever he considers that it is in the public interest and that the goods are not available from production in Canada, remit the duty specified in this item applicable to the goods. Remissions of duty are less the duty applicable to the first $500.00 of value for duty in respect of each application. The following remissions were granted on the recommendation of the Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce and the Treasury Board under the provisions of the tariff item, and represent customs duty on machinery and parts as described in the various remission orders and schedules thereto, the amounts shown representing that portion of the remission applicable to the machinery and parts imported during the period April 1, 1975 to March 31, 1976, inclusive:

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL REVENUE—TAXATION

Remissions of income tax:

Automatic Electric (Canada) Limited..... 1,348,914

PC 1975–6/1371, June 12, 1975, authorized the remission of $1,348,914 income tax plus interest.

The corporation was re-assessed in 1967 to include an inventory adjustment of $12,379,544. The amount was subsequently reduced to $9,429,789 in an out-of-court settlement in 1974 after 1968 had become statute-barred resulting in the taxpayer being taxed in both 1967 and 1968 on the same income.

Due to the fact the taxpayer wrote to the District Office in 1969 concerning the inconsistency and because follow-up procedures regarding inventory adjustments were not adhered to, a remission was granted to avoid the double taxation.

Blackmer, Ethel V..... 8,219

PC 1975–5/2823, December 2, 1975, authorized the remission of $8,219 income tax in respect of the 1960 to 1972 taxation years.

The taxpayer obtained ownership of oil and mineral rights previously owned by her father before his death, on which she reported the royalty income.

The administration of the estate of her half-sister claimed two-ninths of the royalties for the years 1960 to 1972. A settlement in the amount of $53,027 was paid to the claimant.

In April 1975, the Rulings Division decided that a remission of $8,219 in income tax over the period of 1960 to 1972 taxation years should be granted.

Cripps, Robert W H..... 4,561

PC 1975–10/1257, July 3, 1975, authorized the remission of $4,561 income tax interest and penalties in respect of the 1966, 1967 and 1968 taxation years.

The taxpayer came to Canada on a student visa in 1965 and was granted landed immigrant status in 1967. In 1968, he was advised by U-K Revenue authorities that he had been designated a non-resident effective September 11, 1965. From 1965 to 1968 he filed U-K returns as a U-K resident, but on receipt of the U-K Revenue ruling in 1968 he filed Canadian returns from 1965 to 1968 and applied for a U-K tax refund. The Canadian returns were assessed late filing penalties and interest. However, up to May 4, 1969 his U-K funds constituted blocked currency and were not available to him. No interest was paid by U-K authorities on his tax refund.

Therefore, because the taxpayer had done everything possible to comply with Canadian law, a remission of penalties and interest to April 24, 1970, when he received his U-K refund totalling $4,561, was recommended.

Evoy Production Control Limited..... 1,111
Alco Management Limited..... 2,424
Andeve Management Limited..... 1,349
Petritz Enterprises Limited..... 3,912

PC 1975–8/2143, September 11, 1975, authorized the remission of $1,111, $2,424, $1,349 and $3,912 of income tax plus interest, if any, payable by Evoy Production Control Limited, Alco Management Limited, Andeve Management Limited and Petritz Enterprises Limited respectively.

Evoy Production Control in respect of the 1969 taxation year; Alco Management Limited in respect of the 1967, 1968 and 1969 taxation years; Andeve Management Limited in respect of the 1967, 1968 and 1969 taxation years and Petritz Enterprises Limited in respect of the 1968 and 1969 taxation years.

The four taxpayers were incorporated as management companies but their shareholders were taxed as well as they in respect of their income on the basis that the income really belonged to the shareholders.

Deleting the amounts that were taxed in the hands of the individuals caused the corporation to be in loss positions and these losses could not be applied because the years to which they could have been applied were statute-barred.

Due to the double taxation, remissions were granted.

Greenfield, Leonard 60,459

PC 1975–1/2144, September 19, 1975, authorized the remission of $60,235 income tax, $224 penalty and accrued interest in respect of the 1968 taxation year.

The taxpayer was in receipt of loans in 1968 and 1969 of $193,910 and $120,681 respectively, from a corporation, Parkdale (1965) Incorporated. As the loans were unpaid for more than one year, the amounts were included in the taxpayers income under subsection 8(2). The corporation was in the process of liquidating its assets and only $28,855 would have attracted tax as undistributed income under paragraph 82(1)(a). In March 1975, Rulings Division decided that only the amount of $28,855 should be included in income in the 1968 taxation year.

As 1968 is statute-barred, a remission was granted.

Investors Trust Company as Trustee of the Corporation of the British Columbia Coast Pilots Pension Plan 15,708

PC 1975–5/1527, July 3, 1975, authorized the remission of $15,708 and interest payable thereon in respect of the 1966 to 1973 taxation years.

In 1966 the Minister of Finance transferred assets he held for the benefit of British Columbia Coast Pilots to Investors Trust Company which was appointed to administer a pension plan for the pilots. In 1968, the plan was denied registration as not qualifying as an employees' pension plan since the pilots were self-employed. In 1973, the pilots became employees of a new company and an employees' pension plan was registered.

The plans of other Pilotage Authorities during these years were trusted by the Government of Canada, issued by the annuities Branch or were insured with insurance companies and consequently were not liable for tax. Accordingly, the British Columbia pilots have suffered an injustice as compared to other pension plans for ships' pilots.

Therefore, a remission of tax and interest payable was recommended.

La Federation des Caisses Populaires Acadiennes, Ltee 14,422

PC 1975–3/2980, December 18, 1975, authorized the remission of $14,422 income tax plus interest in respect of the 1972 to 1974 taxation years.

The taxpayer was assessed the above tax on their stabilization earnings. Bill C–49 provides specific rules for the taxation of deposit insurance corporations which includes the various stabilization funds established by Credit Unions. The purpose of this legislation is to provide a consistent tax policy for these funds.

In view of this policy, a remission has been granted for income tax and interest.

Pace-Asciak, Dr C R 1,488

PC 1975–12/1527, July 3, 1975, authorized the remission of $1,488 tax in respect of the 1969 taxation year.

In 1973, the taxpayer requested an adjustment to delete from taxable income scholarship moneys for 1969, 1970 and 1971. This request was made within the time limits specified by old paragraph 67(1)(b) for refunds. In November 1974, Rulings Division decided the scholarship moneys were non-taxable.

Due to a delay in processing the re-assessments, 1969 became statute-barred. Since the delay was due to departmental inaction, a remission was granted to alleviate undue hardship on the taxpayer.

Riley, Winnie I (Trust) 25,999

PC 1975–11/2724, November 18, 1975, authorized the remission of $25,999 income tax in respect of the 1968 taxation year.

The trust reported income of a personal corporation which was considered by the Department to be the income of Charles Burton Riley. Re-assessment to include this income was issued to Charles Burton Riley who has filed appeals that are still outstanding. In respect of the appeals, letters of withdrawal have been filed contingent upon a remission to the trust of 1968, 1969 and 1970 federal taxes.

Due to the double taxation and the 1968 taxation year being statute-barred, a remission has been granted.

Titcombe, Emerson P.
McKendry, J B J.
Williamson, N L. } 16,655
Fanning, Pauline F M.
Lamothe, Joseph C.

PC 1975–3/1114, May 13, 1975, authorized the remission of $13,757 income tax and $2,898 interest in respect of the 1969 taxation year for the above five taxpayers.

Nineteen individuals were re-assessed for a gain on the sale of a complex of apartment buildings. Some of the taxpayers involved successfully appealed their re-assessments to the Tax Appeal Board and no further appeal was made by Revenue Canada. The Board decision was made in 1974 at which time the 1969 returns for the five taxpayers who had not appealed were statute-barred.

The remission of the tax and interest was recommended since all the taxpayers were concerned in the same transaction.

Rozell, Joyce 2,065

PC 1975–8/2912, December 11, 1975 authorized the remission of $1,992 income tax plus arrears interest of $73 in respect of the 1974 taxation year.

Due to a mental breakdown, the taxpayer was forced to retire in 1974 from her position as a manager for the Hudson's Bay Company. Her husband, a maintenance mechanic, has also been forced to retire because of poor health.

SECTION 17(8)—Concluded

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL REVENUE—TAXATION—Concluded

Mrs Rozell received a lump sum pension refund of $4,319 and a retirement allowance of $8,250 which she intended to invest in an IAAC or RRSP. Because of her mental condition at the time, she mistakenly invested $10,000 in Canada Savings Bonds rather than in the required plans. Her former employer offered no advice as to rolling over her retirement benefits. She discovered her error and advised the District Office in Penticton on March 5, 1975 but she was informed that the time had elapsed to transfer the amount into a proper investment for taxation purposes.

On the grounds of hardship, a remission was recommended conditional upon the taxpayer transferring $8,250 into a RRSP. The taxpayer has fulfilled this condition and the remission has been granted.

Rubin, Helen 3,262

PC 1975-10/2724, November 18, 1975, authorized the remission of $3,262 interest and late filing penalties in respect of the 1961 to 1973 taxation years.

The taxpayer is the daughter of James W Sharrow and his second wife and has been a mental patient for some years. As a beneficiary, she was entitled to mine royalties, the shares of which had been registered under the name of a daughter of the father's first marriage. Her administrator obtained a settlement of $55,027 for the royalty payments from 1960 to 1972. The Department has agreed to assess this amount over the period of 1961 to 1973.

A remission was granted for interest and late filing penalties.

Sheppard, H G 19,493

PC 1975-2/2980 authorized the remission of $19,493 income tax plus interest in respect of the 1969 taxation year.

The taxpayer purchased shares of Corner Brook Model Shop Limited for which he wrote a cheque in the amount of $88,605. He was of the opinion that this cheque was drawn on the company bank account but in fact it was drawn on his personal bank account. The former shareholder still had control of the company bank account and transferred funds to cover the taxpayer's personal cheque. In the corporation's books, the transfer was charged to the taxpayer's loan account.

In 1969, the taxpayer was assessed income tax on the amount of the unpaid balance of his loan account. Due to a serious illness at the time, the taxpayer did not file a notice of objection.

As it is questionable as to whether the tax was properly exigible and on the grounds of hardship, a remission has been granted.

Vernon Motors Limited 3,835

PC 1976-13/288, February 10, 1976, authorized the remission of $3,835 income tax in respect of the 1965 to 1967 taxation years.

Vernon Motors Limited and J and J Hotels Limited were associated companies controlled by the same person. An agreement was drawn up between the two companies whereby the taxpayer washed cars for J and J Hotels. J and J Hotels claimed the deduction for the amounts paid which was disallowed by re-assessment and confirmed by a judgement in September 1974. The taxpayer was inactive at time of agreement with unapplied losses. Revenue from 1964 to 1967 was derived from the agreement only and after applying the losses, income tax of $3,835 was paid for the years 1965 to 1967.

The taxpayer was not advised to file waivers nor was a re-assessment made because the appeal launched by J and J Hotels could have possibly been allowed. As the judgement was not given until 1974, the taxpayer's returns were statute-barred.

In view of the double taxation and the failure to request waivers, a remission has been granted.

Remissions less than $1,000 (5) 2,727

Total $1,536,603

Income earned in Quebec

PC 1975-2064, September 11, 1975, applicable to the 1972 to 1975 taxation years permits the deduction of the Quebec abatement in respect of income taxable by the Province of Quebec that is received by non-residents and income taxable by Quebec that is received by a resident of Quebec derived from a permanent establishment outside Canada.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
MARCH 31, 1976

1. Summary of accounting policies:
   Accounting policy
   Administrative expenses are recorded on a cash basis modified to include payments in April relating to work performed, goods received or services rendered prior to March 31, which basis is consistent with that used by departments of the Government of Canada. All other accounts of the Board are maintained on an accrual basis.
   An estimated amount for services provided without charge by government departments is included in the statement.
   Fixed assets
   Purchases of furniture and equipment are recorded as an administrative expense in the year of acquisition.

2. Inventories
   Inventories are valued at cost. Selling prices are calculated to recover all product costs except where the approval of the Governor in Council to incur a loss has been received. Apples are included in the inventory at a cost of $412,300; agreements have been entered into by the Board for the sale of these apples which would produce revenue of approximately $184,700. No adjustment has been made in the accounts for the loss, estimated at $227,600, on the sale of this inventory to be recovered from future parliamentary appropriations.

3. Contingent liability
   A contingent liability as at March 31, 1976 in respect to a suit against the Crown was settled in June 1976 with the payment of $30,414. No provision has been made in the accounts for this liability which will be recovered from future parliamentary appropriations.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS MARCH 31, 1976

1. Accounting policies

a) Capital assets

Capital assets acquired prior to April 1, 1971 by parliamentary appropriations are recorded in the Fund at cost. Similarly assets acquired after April 1, 1971 are recorded at cost.

b) Depreciation

Provision for replacement of capital assets is made using the declining balance method based on the estimated useful life of the assets.

2. Capital assets

During 1975-76, the Department of Communications financed by means of a parliamentary appropriation the purchase of capital assets for the Agency totalling $23,731. On June 30, 1976, the Agency presented a submission to Treasury Board requesting approval of a capital loan for the purchase of capital assets which would permit it amongst other things to reimburse the Department for assets already purchased.

In addition, from 1973 to 1975 the Toronto regional office of the Agency financed the purchase of furniture amounting to $4,254 using a parliamentary appropriation of the Department of Communications. The Department will be amending the above-mentioned submission to the Treasury Board to include this amount.

These purchases of capital assets are shown on the Balance Sheet as capital assets and accounts payable.

3. Retained earnings

The Treasury Board has authorized the Fund to carry forward to future years, surpluses or deficits to a maximum amount of $150,000.

4. Common services

The cost of operations does not reflect the cost of services amounting to at least $40,000 provided by departments free of charge.

5. Comparative figures

Ottawa, Ontario.
July 23, 1976

THE HONOURABLE JEANNE SAUVÉ, P.C., M.P., MINISTER OF COMMUNICATIONS,
OTTAWA, ONTARIO.

Dear Mrs. Sauvé,

I have examined the balance sheet of the Government Telecommunications Agency Revolving Fund as at March 31, 1976 and the statement of income and expense for the year then ended. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion these financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Agency as at March 31, 1976 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
MARCH 31, 1976

1. Accounting policies

The costs of the Centre are recorded on an accrual basis. Certain project costs, relating to payments under contract are expensed at the time of disbursement.

Foreign currency accounts have been converted into Canadian dollars at the moving average exchange rates in effect during the year.

Fixed assets are expensed in the year of acquisition except for one revenue producing residence which is recorded at cost and is depreciated on a straight line basis at 4% per annum.

2. Commitments and contingent liabilities

Subject to funds being provided by Parliament, the Centre is committed to make contributions totalling $28,940,819. The Centre also had commitments totalling $3,310,632 which are to be met with funds provided by donor agencies under agreements entered into with those agencies in respect of development research projects.

In addition the Centre has submitted formal offers to prospective grantees totalling $1,089,790 and was awaiting acceptance of these offers.

3. Provision for termination benefits

During 1976, the Centre adopted a policy of recording in its accounts a provision for employee termination benefits earned but not yet paid. Previously the Centre had recorded such benefits only at the time of actual disbursement in the year of termination or retirement.

This policy resulted in additional expenditures for 1976 of $313,804 which are reported in the Program and Administration expenditures. This accounting policy was also applied retroactively for comparative purposes and resulted in additional expenditures for 1975 of $245,449.

4. Remuneration of officers

Salaries totalling $435,604 were paid to twelve officers.

5. Comparative figures

Certain figures for the previous year have been reclassified to conform to the current year's presentation.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT RESEARCH CENTRE, AND
THE HONOURABLE ALLAN J. MACEACHEN, P.C., M.P., SECRETARY OF STATE FOR EXTERNAL AFFAIRS,
OTTAWA, ONTARIO.

Sirs,

I have examined the balance sheet of the International Development Research Centre as at March 31, 1976, and the statements of revenue and expenditure for the year then ended. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion these financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the International Development Research Centre as at March 31, 1976 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year after giving retroactive effect to the change to the accrual method of accounting for termination benefits as referred to in Note 3.

I further report that, in my opinion, proper books of account have been kept by the International Development Research Centre, the financial statements are in agreement therewith and the transactions that have come under my notice have been within its statutory powers.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL

Exchange Fund Account—Continued

NOTE TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Objectives of the Account and significant accounting policies

The Exchange Fund Account was established pursuant to the Currency and Exchange Act, R.S., c. C-39, to aid in the control and protection of the external value of the Canadian monetary unit. The account is in the name of the Minister of Finance and is administered by the Bank of Canada as fiscal agent.

The significant accounting policies are outlined below:

Financing of the Account

The Account is financed with advances from the Consolidated Revenue Fund. These advances are presently limited by Order-In-Council dated June 6, 1972 to 6 billion dollars.

Valuation of assets

Assets in United States dollars are recorded at cost at the time of purchase including accrued interest where applicable. Premiums and discounts on securities are amortized over their remaining term to maturity.

Assets donominated in Special Drawing Rights (SDRs) including gold (1 troy ounce of gold = 35 SDRs) are valued at the U.S. $/SDR rate. Since July 1974, this rate is calculated by the International Monetary Fund as a trade weighted average of the market values of sixteen major currencies. On December 31, 1975, the IMF reported the value of the SDR at U.S. $1. = SDR 0.854222.

For accounting purposes, the Canadian dollar values of the Account's U.S. dollar assets are established at the closing market rate for the U.S. dollar in the Canadian market.

Allocation of Special Drawing Rights

The Special Drawing Right was created by the International Monetary Fund to supplement existing international reserve assets. SDRs are allocated on the basis of each member's quota (subscription) in the Fund. The liability in respect to the net cumulative allocation represents the obligation that Canada would incur upon the termination of Canada's participation in the Special Drawing Account or on the liquidation by the International Monetary Fund of the Special Drawing Account.

Amounts due to the Consolidated Revenue Fund

The following policies are governed by the specific requirements of section 16 of the Currency and Exchange Act:

a) Earnings on investments.
Earnings on investments are recorded on an accrual basis and include interest and the amortization of premiums and discounts.

b) Net profit from trading operations in foreign exchange, gold and securities.
Net profit from trading operations in foreign exchange, gold and securities is transferred to the Consolidated Revenue Fund. Net losses however would be charged to the Deficit account. Sales of foreign currencies during the year are matched against the most recent purchases.

c) Net profit from valuation adjustments on unmatched purchases or sales of foreign exchange, gold and securities.
Net profit from valuation adjustments on the increase or decrease in assets held in or expressed in United States dollars is credited to this account. A net loss would be charged to the deficit account.

Deficit account

This account includes the profit or loss arising from the changes invalue of the SDR in terms of U.S. dollars. It also includes net losses from valuation changes on unmatched purchases or sales made during the year, and profits or losses arising from valuation adjustments to the inventory of assets held at the previous year-end.

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, Ontario
April 29, 1976.

THE HONOURABLE DONALD S. MACDONALD, P.C., M.P., MINISTER OF FINANCE,
OTTAWA, ONTARIO.

Dear Mr. Macdonald,

I have examined the Exchange Fund Account and the transactions in connection therewith for the year ended December 31, 1975, as required by section 18(2) of the Currency and Exchange Act, R.S., c. C-39.

In my opinion, the transactions in connection with the Account have been in accordance with the provisions of the Currency and Exchange Act, the records of the Account show truly and clearly the state of the Account and the accompanying statement of assets and liabilities presents fairly the financial position of the Account at December 31, 1975, in accordance with the accounting policies described in the Note to the Statement applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada.

Ottawa, Ontario
August 6, 1976

The Honourable Donald C. Jamieson, P.C., M.P., Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce
Ottawa, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Jamieson,

I have examined the balance sheet of the Statistics Canada Revolving Fund as at March 31, 1976 and the related statement of operations for the year then ended. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion these financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Fund as at March 31, 1976 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Yours sincerely,

J.J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Transfer of Administration of Publishing Revolving Fund

Under Order in Council P.C. 1976-104 of January 20, 1976 reporting responsibility for the administration and operation of the Information Canada Publishing Revolving Fund was transferred from the Minister of Labour to the Minister of Supply and Services.

2. Accounting Policies

(a) Accounts receivable

No provision is made for non-government accounts receivable which may become uncollectible. Debts due to The Crown determined to be uncollectible are written off in accordance with The Deletion of Debt Regulations.

(b) Capital assets and depreciation

Capital assets are stated at acquisition cost, except those financed from parliamentary appropriations prior to March 31, 1974 which are stated at acquisition cost less accumulated allowance for depreciation as at April 1, 1974. Depreciation is calculated on a straight line basis at 10% per annum of acquisition cost.

3. Changes in Accounting Policies

(a) Accounts payable and accrued liabilities

Accounts payable and accrued liabilities at March 31, 1976 have been reported without adjustment for cheques issued during the thirty days following the end of the fiscal year. In the previous year these cheques, totalling $823,000, were deducted from accounts payable and accrued liabilities and recorded as advances. The 1975 figures have been restated to conform with this change in policy.

(b) Capitalization policy

Consistent with departmental policy capital assets individually costing less than $150 are charged to expense. Accordingly, assets totalling $125,000 have been deleted during the year including $121,000 deleted from assets financed from parliamentary appropriations. Had this policy been in effect for 1975 the depreciation expense would have been $24,000.

(c) Inventories on consignment

Government departments holding inventories on consignment have reported stocks on hand at March 31, 1976 of $306,518, which amount has been included in inventory of publications at that date. Prior to April 1, 1975 inventories on consignment were not recorded in the acounts. Had these inventories been recorded, the cost of sales and net loss for the year would have increased by an estimated $70,000.

4. Amount recovered from Labour Vote 10

Due to insufficient funds in Labour Vote 10, it was only possible to recover $2,500,000 for free and subsidized distribution of Publications, the cost of which was estimated at $2,635,000 on the same basis as in the preceding year.

5. Events subsequent to March 31, 1976

For reasons of economy the bookstore portion of the operations of the Fund will be closed down by December 31, 1976. It is anticipated that this action will result in significant cost savings.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Accounting Policy

The Commission's accounts with respect to administration expense and interest on advances from Canada are on an accrual basis. Claimants' benefits are recorded on a cash basis. However, overpayments of benefits are recorded in accounts receivable after deducting an allowance for uncollectable amounts and estimated amounts refundable to Canada. Benefit expenditures are reduced accordingly.

Under Part IV of the Act, the Minister of National Revenue is charged with the responsibility of collecting employer and employee premiums. These premiums are transferred one month in arrears on an estimated basis to the Unemployment Insurance Account where they are recorded on a cash basis. The estimate is determined from forecasts of factors such as employment, coverage, income and new entrants. Subsequent to the year end the actual amount of premiums is computed and the difference between this amount and the amounts remitted on an estimated basis throughout the year is remitted to or reimbursed by the Commission.

Purchases of machinery and equipment are shown as expenditures in the year of acquisition. Accordingly, no depreciation is reflected in the accounts.

2. Change in accounting policy

During the year the Commission changed its accounting policy on benefit overpayments by reflecting the Unemployment Insurance Account's share in the financial statements. This had the effect of increasing the excess of revenue over expenditure for the year by $9.6 million with a resulting decrease in the deficit as at December 31, 1975, of the same amount.

3. Accounts receivable

Benefit overpayments after allowance for uncollectable amounts are $17.2 million of which $7.6 million is estimated as refundable to Canada and $9.6 million as refundable to the Unemployment Insurance Account. During the year uncollectable benefit overpayments totalling $2.6 million were written off under authority of section 175(2) of the Unemployment Insurance Regulations.

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, Ontario
May 13, 1976.

MINISTER OF MANPOWER AND IMMIGRATION
OTTAWA, ONTARIO

Dear Mr. Andras,

I have examined the balance sheet of the Unemployment Insurance Account as at December 31, 1975 and the statement of revenue and expenditure for the year then ended. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion these financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Account as at December 31, 1975 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles which, except for the change to the accounting policy on benefit overpayments as referred to in Note 2 to the financial statements, have been applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS MARCH 31, 1976

1. Accounting Policy.

In accordance with section 15(1) of the Government Annuities Improvement Act the liability for matured annuities represents their actuarially computed present value at fiscal year end and the liability for unmatured annuities represents the amount of annuitants' premiums paid, together with accrued interest thereon.

The practice followed since inception of the Account to March 31, 1973 was to transfer annually to revenue of Canada any actuarial surplus, and to charge any deficiency to Canada. Pending receipt of the required authority to continue this practice, the Commission decided beginning with the fiscal year 1973-74 to retain in the Account any actuarial surplus or deficiency disclosed by valuation pursuant to Section 15 of the Act. Since this authority has now been granted by virtue of Section 15 of the Government Annuities Improvement Act, the accumulated surplus at March 31, 1975 was subsequently transferred to Canada in June, 1976.

Included in the reported disbursements are amounts for services provided without charge by other government departments. Acquisitions of furniture and equipment are expensed in the year of acquisition.

Disbursements for the year include amounts paid in April 1976 relating to work performed, goods received or services rendered prior to March 31, 1976 and the amount transferred to Canada in June 1976, for the actuarial surplus accumulated from March 31, 1973 to 1975.

Receipts for the year include accrued interest.

Note: In 1975-76 the Canada and Quebec Pension Plans and the Death Benefit Account were charged to each department. In prior years the costs were entirely reflected in Treasury Board's budgetary expenditures. Additionally, the official languages program was centralized in the Administration Program, the Non-Medical Use of Drugs Program was absorbed in the Health Protection Program where it became the non-medical use of mood altering substances activity. For comparative purposes the 1974-75 figures have been adjusted.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
MARCH 31, 1976

1. Accounting policies:

Pension obligations—

In accordance with the provisions of the Canada Pension Plan Act, these statements show only the transactions through the Canada Pension Plan Account and the Canada Pension Plan Investment Fund and changes in the balance of these accounts for the year ended March 31, 1976. Accordingly, these statements do not purport to show the adequacy of the balance in the Canada Pension Plan Account to meet, on an actuarial basis, the future obligations of the Canada Pension Plan.

The Canada Pension Plan Act directs the Chief Actuary of the Department of Insurance to prepare at least once in every five years a report based on an actuarial examination of the operation of the Act and the state of the Canada Pension Plan Account. The Chief Actuary's report is to set out, for each of the 10 years immediately following the date of his examination, the estimated revenues of the Account and the estimated amount of all payments chargeable to the Account, and for each fifth year of a period of not less than 30 years from the date of the examination, an estimate of the percentage of the total contributory salaries and wages and contributory self-employed earnings that would be required to provide for all payments chargeable to the Account should there be no balance in the Account at the commencement of that year. The latest statutory report is No. 4 dated October 11, 1974. This report, in accordance with section 116 of the Canada Pension Plan Act, was laid before the House of Commons by the Minister of Finance on October 17, 1974.

According to the Fund projections by the Chief Actuary, if the present 3.6% contribution rate is continued indefinitely, the net cash flow to the provinces would be negative in the year 1982. That is, interest payments received from the provinces will be greater than new loans to the provinces. Beginning in the year 1990 it is projected that annual benefit payments and expenses will exceed the contributions and interest on investments. The Chief Actuary indicates that between 1990 and the year 2000 there will be a liquidation of investments and after this point the fund would be inoperative unless new sources of funds are introduced.

Cash basis—

Contributions, interest and benefit payments of the Canada Pension Plan Account are recorded on a cash basis. Expenses are recorded on a cash basis modified to include payments in April relating to work performed, goods received or services rendered prior to March 31.

All receipts of the Canada Pension Plan Account are paid into the Consolidated Revenue Fund and all disbursements of this account and all purchases of investments for the Canada Pension Plan Investment Fund are made out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Furniture and equipment—

The cost of furniture and equipment is charged to expense at the time of acquisition.

Securities—

All securities held are carried at cost, are non-negotiable and have a term of 20 years. The securities bear interest at the average market yield of 20-year Canada bonds applicable at the time of the issue of the security.

2. Expense:

The total expense of the Canada Pension Plan Account represents the amount charged for services provided by the Unemployment Insurance Commission (assignment of social insurance numbers and maintenance of central index) and five federal government departments: National Revenue—Taxation (collection of contributions); National Health and Welfare (administration); Supply and Services (accounting and computer services); Public Works (accommodation); and Insurance (actuarial services). The Department of Finance is responsible for the investment program of the Fund, a service that is performed without charge by this Department.

3. Interest on investments:

Interest received by the Canada Pension Plan Account during the year ended March 31, 1976 is as follows:

	1976	1975
From securities of the provinces:
Newfoundland	$ 12,038,386	$ 9,691,093
Prince Edward Island	2,421,768	1,942,541
Nova Scotia	24,626,788	19,779,922
New Brunswick	18,307,924	14,834,567
Quebec	3,567,874	2,875,139
Ontario	343,322,901	281,052,440
Manitoba	36,227,868	29,494,639
Saskatchewan	28,179,919	23,145,843

British Columbia	91,456,976	71,534,582
From securities of Canada	3,886,828	3,103,202
	$ 621,059,830	$ 504,414,091

Canada Pension Plan—Concluded

4. Purchase of securities of the provinces and Canada:

The balance to the credit of the Canada Pension Plan Account less the balance in the Canada Pension Plan Investment Fund is defined by the legislation as the operating balance. When the operating balance exceeds the estimated amount required to meet all payments in the following three-month period, the excess is available from the Consolidated Revenue Fund for purchase of securities of the provinces and Canada.

Provinces are advised monthly of the amount of excess monies in the Canada Pension Plan Account that is available for the purchase of provincial securities. The amount available to each province is the proportion that contributions made to the Plan by each province bears to total contributions. Contributions received from the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and from certain other employees outside Canada are invested in bonds of the Government of Canada.

The Canada Pension Plan is applicable throughout Canada, except in the Province of Quebec where a similar plan has been established. However, certain federal employees, such as members of the armed forces, who are resident in the Province of Quebec contribute to the Canada Pension Plan. The securities of this Province that are purchased by the Plan relate to the contributions of these employees.

THE HONOURABLE MARC LALONDE,
P.C., M.A., LL.L., Q.C., M.P., MINISTER OF NATIONAL HEALTH AND WELFARE,
OTTAWA, ONTARIO.

Dear Mr. Lalonde,

I have examined the statements of transactions of the Canada Pension Plan Account and the Canada Pension Plan Investment Fund for the year ended March 31, 1976. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion these statements of transactions give a true and fair view of the balance in the Canada Pension Plan Account and the investments in the Canada Pension Plan Investment Fund as at March 31, 1976, and of the transactions through these accounts for the year then ended, in accordance with the accounting policies described in Note 1 and are presented on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

As explained in Note 1, under the provisions of the Canada Pension Plan Act, these statements are not intended nor do they purport to show the adequacy of the balance in the Canada Pension Plan Account to meet, on an actuarial basis, the future obligations of the Canada Pension Plan.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada.

This basis of accounting is consistent with the one used by departments of the Government of Canada.

Commencing in 1975-76 the Statutory Vote provided funds in addition for the Council's share of contributions to the Canada Pension Plan, the Quebec Pension Plan and the Supplementary Death Benefit Plan.

3. The Council had outstanding commitments amounting to approximately $65,443,000 at March 31, 1976 ($62,849,000—1975) in respect of future grants and scholarships awarded, payment of which is subject to the provision of funds by Parliament.

4. Refunds of previous years' expenditure amounting to $166,600 ($53,024 in 1975) were remitted to the Receiver General for Canada and are not reflected in the statement.

5. At March 31, 1976 the Council held a cash balance of $78,205 ($76,404 in 1975) arising from a donation received for specified research projects. During the year interest of $5,313 was received and expenditure of $3,512 was incurred. These transactions are not reflected in the statement.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
MARCH 31, 1976

1. Accounting Policies

   Overhead costs of administering the Revolving Fund are borne by the Department of National Revenue—Customs and Excise.

   Interest is not charged to the Fund because the Treasury Board has classified the Fund as a Working Capital Advance.

2. Inventory

   Included in inventory is approximately $40,000 of spirit age labels which may prove to be surplus to future requirements. As final determination of the surplus inventory is established, the accounts will be adjusted.

Customs and Excise Revolving Fund—Concluded

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA
Ottawa, Ontario

THE HONOURABLE JACK CULLEN, P.C., L.L.B., M.P.
MINISTER OF NATIONAL REVENUE, OTTAWA.

Dear Mr. Cullen,

I have examined the balance sheet of the Customs and Excise Revolving Fund as at March 31, 1976 and the related statement of operations for the year then ended. My examination included a general review of the accounting records and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion, subject to the effect of recording an appropriate allowance for the surplus inventory described in Note 2, these financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Customs and Excise Revolving Fund as at March 31, 1976 and the results of its operations for the year then ended in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL

POST OFFICE

Objective

—To provide postal services to the people of Canada at reasonable rates and at a standard of service adequate to meet their needs without incurring subsidization from general taxation.

Note: In 1975-76 the Canada and Quebec Pension Plans and the Death Benefit Account were charged to each department. In prior years the costs were entirely reflected in Treasury Board's budgetary expenditures.

For comparative purposes the 1974-75 figures have been adjusted.

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Ministry of State

Objective

—To encourage the development and use of science and technology in support of national goals.

National Research Council of Canada

Objectives

ENGINEERING AND NATURAL SCIENCES RESEARCH PROGRAM

—To provide a national foundation upon which to build for the creation, application and use of knowledge derived from the natural sciences and engineering.

SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL INFORMATION PROGRAM

—To facilitate the use of scientific and technical information by the government and people of Canada.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND GRANTS IN AID OF RESEARCH PROGRAM

—To promote and support the development and maintenance of research and the provision of highly qualified manpower in the natural sciences and engineering.

Science Council of Canada

Objective

—To assess Canada's scientific and technological requirements, resources and potentialities and to advise the Government on the best use of science and technology.

Note: In 1975-76 the Canada and Quebec Pension Plans and the Death Benefit Account were charged to each department. In prior years the costs were entirely reflected in Treasury Board's budgetary expenditures.

In 1975-76 expenditure in respect of the National Research Council was transferred to this department from the Department of Treasury Board.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS MARCH 31, 1976

1. Accounting Policies

The Council's accounts for 1975-76 were maintained on an accrual basis. In 1974-75, general administration expenditures and purchases of works of art were recorded on a modified cash basis in which payments in April relating to work performed, goods received or services rendered prior to March 31 appeared as accounts payable. The change to the accrual basis did not have a material effect on the 1975-76 financial statements.

Grants are charged to expenditure in the year in which they are approved. Cancelled grants approved in previous years and refunds are shown as income in the Endowment Account. With respect to the Special Funds such items are deducted from the grants approved during the year.

Investments of the Endowment Account and Special Funds are carried at cost or amortized cost.

Purchases of works of art are charged to programme expenditure in the year of purchase. Other capital expenditures are charged to general administration expenditure in the year of purchase and as a consequence there are no charges for depreciation.

Interest accrued on the Queen's Fellowship Fund and fellowships paid therefrom are not included in the statement of operations and surplus of the Endowment Account. (See Note 3)

Except for the Parliamentary Grant, all monies or properties received by the Council pursuant to section 20 of the Canada Council Act are accounted for in the Special Funds statement.

3. Queen's Fellowship Fund

In December 1973 the Council received a grant of $250,000 from Canada for the establishment of a Queen's Fellowship Fund to be administered by the Council. The income from the Fund is to be used for the payment of fellowships to graduate students in certain fields of Canadian studies. Fellowships granted during the year amounted to $27,930 and the Fund earned $26,358 during the year.

4. Administration expenditure

Programme administration expenditures comprise the major expenditures directly attributable to the Social Sciences and Humanities and Arts programmes and the direct costs of servicing the Canadian Commission for UNESCO.

General administration comprises all other expenditures of the Council, including those relating to the Special Funds, and the programmes of Cultural Exchange for the Department of External Affairs and the Canadian Cultural Institute in Rome under P.C. 1967-2354. These expenses were recovered to the extend of $3,000 from the Molson Prize Fund, $43,508 from the Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Fund for Advanced Studies and $80,000 from the Department of External Affairs in respect of servicing these funds and Cultural Programmes.

6. Bequests and gifts

The Council has received bequests and gifts as follows:

(a) Isaak Walton Killam Memorial Fund for Advanced Studies

A bequest of $11,919,615 in cash and securities was received from the estate of the late Mrs. Dorothy J. Killam for the establishment of "The Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Fund for Advanced Studies" to provide scholarships "for advanced study or research at universities, hospitals, research or scientific institutes, or other equivalent or similar institutions both in Canada and in other countries in any field of study or research other than 'the arts' as presently defined in the Canada Council Act and not limited to the 'humanities and social sciences' referred to in such Act".

The bequest contains the following provisions: that the Killam Trust shall not form part of the Endowment Fund or otherwise be merged with any assets of the Council; and that, in the event the Canada Council should ever be liquidated or its existence terminated or its powers and authority changed so that it is no longer able to administer any Killam Trust, the assets forming the Killam Trust must be paid over to certain universities which have also benefited under the will. The cash and securities received and the proceeds have been invested in a separate portfolio.

(b) Special Scholarship Fund

A gift of approximately $4,350,000 was received from the late Mrs. Dorothy J. Killam for the establishment of a Special Scholarship Fund. The gift consists of securities registered in the name of the Canada Council, redeemable over a period of years. To March 31, 1976, the Council has received proceeds from the redemption of these securities amounting to $1,856,380. These proceeds have been invested in a separate portfolio and the income derived is available to provide fellowship grants to Canadians for advanced study or research in the field of medicine, science and engineering at universities, hospitals, research or scientific institutions or other equivalent or similar institutions in Canada.

(c) Molson Prize Fund

Gifts of $900,000 from the Molson Foundation established a capital fund referred to as the Molson Prize Fund. The income of the Fund is used for awarding cash prizes to Canadians for outstanding achievement in the fields of the Arts, the Humanities or the Social Sciences that enriches the cultural or intellectual heritage of Canada or contributes to national unity. The value of each prize is $20,000 or as determined by Council, without restriction as to its use by the recipient.

(d) Lynch-Staunton Fund

An unconditional bequest of $699,066 from the estate of the late V.M. Lynch-Staunton established a capital fund, the income from which is available for the regular programmes of the Council.

(e) John B.C. Watkins Estate

A bequest was received (carried on the balance sheet at a nominal value of $1.) of the net income from the residue of the estate of the late John B.C. Watkins, which assets are held in perpetuity by a trust company. The net income is to be used "for the establishment of scholarships to be awarded to graduates of any Canadian University who may apply therefor for the purpose of engaging in post graduate studies in Denmark, Norway, Sweden or Iceland and who shall be selected for their outstanding worth or promise by a committee appointed by the Canada Council". To March 31, 1976, a total of $80,416 has been received, while awards amounted to $59,054 leaving a balance of $21,362.

Appendix 1–Concluded

The Canada Council–Concluded

(f) J.B. Barwick Estate

A bequest of what may amount to $31,500 was made by the late J.B. Barwick. The payment of the bequest is to be postponed during the lifetime of the surviving beneficiary of the residue of the estate. The bequest to the Council is "on condition that such bequest shall be applied for the benefit of the musical division of the arts and for the encouragement of the musical arts to increase the Council's normal budget in the musical division or field of the arts". The bequest is reflected in the balance sheet at a nominal value of $1.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
MARCH 31, 1976

1. Significant accounting policies
   (a) Accounting basis–
   The Board's accounts are maintained on the accrual basis.
   (b) Production of films–
      (i) The costs of films to be distributed by the Board are expensed as incurred.
      (ii) The profit or loss on contracts for films produced for others is recognized on completion of the film.
      (iii) Where the Board participates with a co-sponsor in the production of a film, the co-sponsor's contribution is generally applied first against costs incurred.
   (c) Inventories–
      (i) Materials and supplies are carried at cost.
      (ii) Work in progress represents unbilled costs incurred in the production of films for others.
      (iii) Prints held for sale are made from films produced by the Board and are carried at a standard cost per foot, which is determined annually.
   (d) Capital assets–
   Capital assets are stated at acquisition cost. Depreciation is provided on the straight line basis over the estimated useful life of the assets, generally five to ten years, starting in the year following their acquisition and including the year in which they are disposed of.

2. Provision for employee benefits
   During 1976, the Board adopted the policy of recording in its accounts a provision for severance pay and vacation pay accruing to employees. Previously the Board had expensed actual vacation and severance payments in the year of payment. Accordingly provisions of $3,810,808 have been recorded as at March 31, 1976 representing the estimated liability for severance pay and vacation pay at that date. The accounting change has been applied retroactively and the Statements of Operations and Deficit have been restated. The effect of the change is an increase in net expense of $427,923 for 1976 and an increase in net expense of $474,910 for 1975. The remaining $2,907,975 is applicable to years prior to April 1, 1974 and has been charged to the deficit at that date.

3. Remuneration of members and officers
   Expense for the year includes remuneration of five members as members $10,025 (1975–$5,700) and remuneration of eleven officers as officers, $350,282 (1975–$345,344). One officer is also a member.

4. Comparative figures
   The presentation of the 1975 comparative figures has been amended to conform to the 1976 format.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT MARCH 31, 1976

1. Accounting Policies

The statement of expenditure and revenue includes the activities of the National Museums of Canada as well as those of the Purchase, Trust, and Special Accounts administered by the Corporation.

Expenditures for the year include amounts paid in April 1976 relating to work performed, goods received or services rendered prior to March 31, 1976.

Receipts of the Corporation's Purchase Account, Trust Account and Special Account are reported on a cash basis and are retained in those accounts. Other revenues are reported on a cash basis and are credited to non-tax revenue of Canada in the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Disbursements of the Purchase and Special Accounts are made from the receipts of those accounts as well as from parliamentary appropriations provided for that purpose. Disbursements of the Corporation's Trust Account are made from the receipts of that account.

Amounts for services provided without charge by other government departments are included in the operating expenditures of the Corporation (see Note 3). Other operating expenditures are charged to parliamentary appropriations provided for that purpose. Capital expenditures are expensed in the year of purchase and are provided for in the same parliamentary appropriations.

Grants and contributions are charged to a separate parliamentary appropriation and are subject to criteria and guidelines approved by the Treasury Board.

2. Purchase Account

The amount of $4,220,000 transferred from Secretary of State Vote 90 to the Purchase Account includes $2,100,000 designated for emergency purchases of national treasures. The emergency purchase fund balance is as follows:

Balance April 1, 1975		$3,207,000
Add: Transferred from Secretary of State Vote 90	$2,100,000
Interest earned during the year	332,000	2,432,000
		5,639,000
Less: Purchases during the year		262,000
Balance March 31, 1976		$5,377,000

3. Services Provided Without Charge

The operating expenditures include the following services provided by government departments for which there was no charge to the National Museums of Canada.

SERVICES PROVIDED:	1976	1975
Accommodation	$3,339,000	$3,340,000
Employee insurance premiums	230,000	161,000
Cheque issue service	91,000	33,000
Employee compensation payments	1,000	1,000
	$3,661,000	$3,535,000

4. Additional Information

The inventory (at cost) of books, pamphlets, replicas and other materials for sale to the public increased from $716,000 at March 31, 1975, to $927,000 at March 31, 1976.

5. Employee Termination Benefits

The Corporation does not reflect in its financial statement the liability for employee termination benefits. At March 31, 1976, this liability was estimated to be $4,200,000.

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, Ontario

August 27, 1976

MR. GEORGE IGNATIEFF,
CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES,
NATIONAL MUSEUMS OF CANADA,
OTTAWA, ONTARIO.

Dear Mr. Ignatieff:

I have examined the statement of expenditure and revenue of the National Museums of Canada for the year ended March 31, 1976. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion, the statement of expenditure and revenue gives a true and fair view of the results of operations of the Corporation for the year ended March 31, 1976 in accordance with the accounting policies set out in Note 1, applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

I further report that, in my opinion, proper books of account have been kept by the Corporation, the financial statement is in agreement therewith and the transactions that have come under my notice have been within its statutory powers.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS MARCH 31, 1976

1. Accounting Policies
   (a) Year-end cut-off
   The accounts of the revolving fund are presented on the accrual basis. The financial statements show the balance of the working capital advance account as at March 31, 1976, in accordance with the instructions contained in Treasury Board Circular No. 1970-7 of January 8, 1970;
   (b) Interest on advance
   Interest on the working capital advance was calculated at the rate of 9 3/8% per annum on the month-end balance shown in the Central Accounts of Canada;
   (c) Deficit
   The Treasury Board, by T.B. 722701 of November 1, 1973, authorized the revolving fund to carry forward surpluses or deficits annually up to a limit of $150,000. Surpluses are to be used to offset accumulated deficits from prior years' operations or to provide for expected deficits in future years;
   (d) Appropriation overhead
   Services provided by the Public Service Commission Appropriation were charged to the revolving fund during the 1975-76 operating period on the basis of identified costs. This system of allocating appropriation overhead of the Staff Development Branch differs from the practice followed in prior years where costs were pro-rated to operating projects of the revolving fund on a proportion of direct costs. The net effect of this change is a reduction in current year overhead costs of $1,576,788 thus decreasing the net loss for the year by the same amount;
   (e) Retroactive salary adjustments payable
   Included in the 1975-76 revolving fund operations is an amount of $481,531 representing the liability for retroactive salaries resulting from collective bargaining agreements signed prior to April 1, 1976, affecting the 1975-76 operating period but not paid until the subsequent fiscal year. The establishment of this provision differs from the practice followed in prior years where retroactive salary adjustments were charged to operations in the year of payment.
   (f) Accrued salaries payable
   The establishment of the accrued salaries payable at the year-end differs from the practice followed in previous years where the accrued amount was credited to the working capital advance. However, the statement of operations remains unaffected.
   (g) Employee termination benefits
   The revolving fund does not reflect in its financial statements the liability for employee termination benefits.

2. Program losses of $179,923 incurred in 1974-75 and accounts receivable in dispute with other government departments and agencies of $54,896, were recovered by an allotment from Treasury Board Vote 15 (T.B. 741529) on April 14, 1976. Accordingly, the $179,923 was applied against the accumulated deficit and the $54,896 was applied against outstanding accounts receivable.

3. On November 1, 1973, Treasury Board authorized the revolving fund to carry forward surpluses or deficits annually up to a limit of $150,000. The accumulated deficit as at March 31, 1975 was $749,192 of which $599,192 would normally have been recovered in 1975-76 through Supplementary Estimates. Instead the Fund sought to have the carry-forward authority increased from $150,000 to $900,000. This request was not approved by Treasury Board. The Fund, therefore, will seek authority in 1976-77 to recover its current deficit.

4. Catering and accommodation is provided for students attending certain of the training courses operated by the revolving fund. It is intended that the cost of these services be borne by the employing departments sponsoring the students. However, the rates charged for recovery of these costs have not been sufficient for this purpose, as shown by the following summary:

Cost of operating catering and accommodation services for students on a cost recovery basis . . .	$836,989
Catering and accommodation fees	366,218
Loss on catering and accommodation	$470,771

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, Ontario.

August 27, 1976.

THE HONOURABLE J. HUGH FAULKNER, P.C., M.P., SECRETARY OF STATE,
OTTAWA, ONTARIO

Dear Mr. Faulkner,

I have examined the balance sheet of the Staff Development and Training Revolving Fund of the Public Service Commission as at March 31, 1976 and the statement of operations for the year then ended. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion, these financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Fund as at March 31, 1976 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with the accounting policies set out in Note 1 applied, except for the changes referred to in Note 1, on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

I further report that, in my opinion, proper books of account have been kept by the Fund, the financial statements are in agreement therewith and, except that the amount of $2,000,000 authorized by Parliament as the maximum working capital advance outstanding at any one time has been exceeded during eleven months of the year, and, except that the Fund did not recover the appropriate amount of the 1974-75 deficit in 1975-76 (Note 3), the transactions that have come under my notice have been within its statutory powers.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada.

Annuity, insurance and pension accounts–Royal Canadian Mounted Police Superannuation Account, Section 25 of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Superannuation Act, R.S., c. R-11, requires that at least once in every five years an actuarial report on the state of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Superannuation Account be laid before Parliament.

On May 17, 1972, a report was tabled showing that an actuarial deficit of $81,000 existed in the Account at December 31, 1969, after making allowances for the amended formula for integration of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Superannuation Plan benefits with benefits under the Canada Pension Plan. However, no amount was credited to the Account in accordance with section 24(4) of the Act as the actuaries were of the opinion that this situation will correct itself prior to the next valuation.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENT

1. Accounting Policies:
   Pension obligations–
   The Royal Canadian Mounted Police Pension Continuation Act directs the Minister of Finance to have an actuarial examination of the Fund made at least once every 5 years. If the actuarial valuation discloses a surplus, the Governor in Council may, by order, increase the benefit payments. If there is an actuarial deficiency, the Governor in Council may direct that there be credited to the Fund out of any unappropriated moneys in the Consolidated Revenue Fund such amount as may be required to re-establish solvency of the Fund.
   Cash basis–
   All transactions of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (Dependants) Pension Fund representing amounts paid into or from the Consolidated Revenue Fund are accounted for on a cash basis.

2. Status of Fund:
   On May 4, 1976 a report arising from amendments, assented to on December 20, 1975, to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Continuation Act was tabled in Parliament showing that an actuarial surplus of $2.9 million existed in the Fund at March 31, 1974. The report recommended that an estimated $2 million of this surplus be distributed in the form of increased benefits, pensions and annuities. The recommendations were accepted and approved by Treasury Board Minute 742727 of April 15, 1976, which was also tabled on May 4, 1976.

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, Ontario

September 21, 1976

THE HONOURABLE FRANCIS FOX, P.C., M.P.,

Dear Mr. Fox:

In compliance with the requirements of Section 55 of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Continuation Act, I have examined the statement of transactions of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (Dependants) Pension Fund for the year ended March 31, 1976. In my opinion, the financial statement gives a true and fair summary of the transactions of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (Dependants) Pension Fund for the year ended March 31, 1976 and the balance of the Fund as at that date, in accordance with accounting policies described in Note 1 and is presented on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 1975

1. ACCOUNTING POLICY

a. Canada bonds, maturing within two years, held in the vested assets account and the office administration account are valued at par. Any premium or discount on these bonds is recorded in interest revenue in the office administration account in the year of purchase.

b. Securities are valued at par, except for shares having no par value which are recorded at $1 each. Foreign securities are shown in Canadian funds at the exchange rates prevailing at the outbreak of World War II.

c. The companies controlled by the Custodian are holding companies and equity is shown at the net book value of the assets controlled by him according to the annual financial statements of one company (August 31, 1975) and at a nominal value of $1 each for equities where no statements are available. Three of the partners in the firm responsible for auditing the accounts of the company, for which financial statements were received, were directors of that company until August 27, 1975 when they were replaced by three representatives of the Custodian's office.

d. Other assets include $1,390 for real estate valued at amounts assessed for municipal tax purposes.

2. CONTINGENT LIABILITY

As at December 31, 1975, the Custodian was contingently liable, to an unknown degree, in respect of possible claims on vested assets.

3. STATEMENT PRESENTATION

Certain 1974 comparative figures have been restated to conform to the 1975 presentation.

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, Ontario,
February 10, 1976.

THE HONOURABLE JEAN-PIERRE GOYER, P.C., LL.B., M.P., MINISTER OF SUPPLY AND SERVICES,
OTTAWA, ONTARIO.

Dear Mr. Goyer,

I have examined the statement of assets and liabilities of the Custodian as at December 31, 1975 and the statements of change in vested assets account and of income and expense for the year then ended. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances. I have relied on the audited financial statements of a company referred to in Note 1c to the financial statements for the valuation of the Custodian's equity in this company.

As in previous years, income earned from cash funds and from investments acquired from such funds, held in the vested assets account, was transferred as income into the office administration account. In my opinion such income should remain with the vested assets account. In 1975 this income amounted to $40,610.

Except for the foregoing, in my opinion these financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Custodian as at December 31, 1975 and the results of his administration of the Revised Regulations Respecting Trading with the Enemy (1943) for the year then ended, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

I further report that, in my opinion, proper books of account have been kept the Custodian, the financial statements are in agreement therewith and the transactions that have come under my notice have been within his statutory powers.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AS AT MARCH 31, 1976

1. Accounting policies

a) Year-end cut-off

The Defence Production Revolving Fund is determined to be a working capital advance as defined in the instructions contained in Treasury Board Circular 1970-7. The records of the Fund are maintained on an accrual basis modified as explained in these notes. The working capital advance account reflects cash disbursements to March 31, 1976, however cash received in the first month of the following year is included as a reduction of both the accounts receivable and the working capital advance accounts.

b) Progress payments to suppliers

Payments to suppliers for defence supplies requisitioned by Government departments or agencies or by associated governments are charged to the progress payments to suppliers account. The corresponding amounts received from the department, agency or associated government are reflected in an account for progress payments from customers. The net balance comprises amounts paid for defence supplies not yet recovered from customers. Upon delivery of finished items to the customers department, agency or government, the accounts are relieved of the cost of the goods delivered.

c) Inventory valuation

Inventories of strategic materials and defence supplies are generally carried in the accounts at cost. Losses resulting from a decline in inventory value are not recognized until disposition of the inventories except where Parliament has approved a write-down in value. Commencing with the fiscal year 76-77, inventories will be valued at the lower of cost or realizable value should the market stabilize below cost. Reimbursement of losses disclosed by revaluation and other losses sustained by the Fund will be contingent upon parliamentary appropriation.

Appendix 2–Concluded

Defence Production Revolving Fund–Concluded

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS–Concluded

d) Sales

Included in the sales of the Fund are only sales of strategic materials and those defence supplies purchased for stockpiling. Transactions in defence supplies acquired pursuant to requisitions of Government departments or agencies or of associated governments are not reflected in the statement of operations.

e) Administrative expenses

The Fund has no capital assets or employees. The administrative expenses of the Fund are borne by the Department of Supply and Services.

2. Accounts receivable

Included in accounts receivable is a long-term receivable of $2,559,918 collection of which from an aircraft manufacturer is dependent on the sale of aircraft. Should sufficient sales to retire the debt not materialize, the balance then owing will be recovered from the Department of National Defence.

3. Progress payments to suppliers to be recovered from customers

This amount represents the excess of progress payments paid to suppliers of $11,196,046 over progress payments received from customers of $2,831,206 as at March 31, 1976. The comparative figures for 1975 are $8,929,883 and $4,776,258 respectively.

4. Working capital loans

Working capital loans comprise $1,724,780 loaned to a repair and overhaul contractor in 1973 which is repayable without interest upon settlement of a claim by the contractor against the Canadian Commercial Corporation and $6,000,000 loaned in 1972 to an aircraft manufacturer which is to bear interest at the current prime bank lending rate in effect from time to time and is repayable June 8, 1976. As a claim by the Crown against an aircraft designer may result in retroactive offsets against the principal amount of the latter loan, it has not been possible to determine the amount of interest earned to March 31, 1976.

5. Inventories

The inventories as at March 31, 1976 consist entirely of stockpiled defence supplies. All inventories of strategic materials were disposed of by March 31, 1976.

6. Cost of sales–strategic materials

Included in cost of sales - strategic materials is $3,332,275 representing realization of the actual difference between cost and market value of the oil inventory as at March 31, 1975 due to the lower market prices experienced after the world oil crisis in 1973. Also included in cost of sales--strategic materials is $58,495 representing a shortage of 72,068 gallons of oil discovered during transfer between storage facilities in 1975.

7. Amounts recovered from appropriations

The amount of $14,639,678 recovered in 1976 from Energy, Mines and Resources, Vote 5b, was to reimburse the Fund for the losses on disposal of the fuel oil. The recovery in 1975 from Supply and Services, Vote 4d, for the loss on disposal of quartz previously reported as $862,007 has been restated to give effect retroactively to a return of $1,258 from the Fund as revenue. A corresponding restatement has been made to the Advances from Canada as working capital.

8. Comparative figures

Certain figures for the previous year have been restated to conform to the current year's presentation. The net loss reported for the year 1975 included interest income of $5,532 which was paid to the Receiver General and disclosed separately on the statement of operations and the balance sheet. There is no interest income for 1976 and the comparative figure for the net loss on trading operations does not include the item.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Accounting policies
   a) Merging of the Supply Revolving Fund and the Printing Revolving Fund

      Treasury Board Minute 731372 authorized that the operations of the Supply Revolving Fund and the Printing Revolving Fund be combined, effective April 1, 1975 and that the new fund be called the Supply Revolving Fund.

      The Supply Revolving Fund authority for utilization of funds was increased to $75,000,000 in total. Separate legislation and authorities of the Printing Revolving Fund were deleted at the same time. Comparative figures for 1975 have been stated on a combined basis.
      For administrative purposes, the operations of general supply and printing are accounted for separately. Condensed operating statements for the period ended March 31, 1976 are shown in Schedules A and B.
   b) Depreciation
      Depreciation is calculated on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the fixed assets, generally 5 to 10 years, except for those financed from parliamentary appropriations or surpluses and transferred to the Supply Revolving Fund at appraised values. These assets are being depreciated, on a straight-line basis, at 20% per annum with effect from April 1, 1971.
   c) Recording of Revenue and Expense,
      Revenue and expense are recorded on the accrual basis of accounting with the exception of vacation pay and employment termination benefits which are expended in the period in which the payments are made.

2. Fixed Assets
   Fixed assets financed from parliamentary appropriations and transferred to the Supply Revolving Fund during 1972, 1973 and 1974 are recorded in the accounts of the Fund at an appraised value, as determined by officers of the Department of Supply and Services.

3. Lease obligations
   A contract approved by Treasury Board Minute 723506 of November 29, 1973 provided for the lease, installation and maintenance of computers and peripheral equipment for use in the printing operations for a four-year period.

Appendix 3–Concluded

Supply Revolving Fund–Concluded

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS–Concluded

Rental charges during the year for this equipment amounted to $429,084. The remaining lease liability at March 31, 1976 for the period April 1, 1976 to December 31, 1977 under this contract totals $324,750.

4. Extraordinary item

The extraordinary item in 1975 of $1,069,000 represents a transfer to the Department of Supply and Services Administration Program – Vote 1 of the estimated cost of the special cost of living salary increases granted to government employees effective April 1, 1974 and included in the operating expenses of the Fund. An allotment of funds to cover the cost of these increases was made to that Vote from Treasury Board Vote 7b (Government contingencies–Cost of Living Increases) authorized by Appropriation Act No. 4, 1974-75, c.21.

5. Retained earnings

Treasury Board Minute 731372 limits the retained earnings which the Supply Revolving Fund can carry; amounts in excess of $3,000,000 are required to be remitted to the Consolidated Revenue Fund. In order to comply with this requirement, $2,315,726 will be transferred to non-tax revenue of Canada.

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, Ontario
July 6, 1976

THE HONOURABLE JEAN-PIERRE GOYER, P.C., LL.B., M.P., MINISTER OF SUPPLY AND SERVICES,
OTTAWA, ONTARIO.

Dear Mr. Goyer,

I have examined the balance sheet of the Supply Revolving Fund as at March 31, 1976 and the related statements of operations and retained earnings for the year then ended. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion, these financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Fund as at March 31, 1976 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with the accounting policies set out in Note 1, applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Yours sincerely,

J. J. MACDONELL
Auditor General of Canada
